

THOUSANDS OF KOREAN CRIPPLED CHILDREN DESPERATELY NEED HELP

The War Is Over, the Scars Remain

Times readers starting Thursday will have the opportunity to throw their weight behind construction of a rehabilitation centre for war-injured children in Seoul, Korea.

It will be the Times' seventh annual appeal on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee which has accomplished such tremendous work in underprivileged areas of the world.

The appeal starts Thursday when Dr. Lofta Hirschmanova, head of the USC drive, speaks in Oak Bay Junior High School on the need for aid to children in Asiatic countries.

Doors will be open at 7.15 and the talk, entitled "The Magic Key," will start at 8 p.m. A film, "Step

By Step," taken by Dr. Hirschmanova in Korea and India, will show conditions in these places "as the relief workers see them, not glamorized."

No admission will be charged, but a silver collection will be taken, instituting the campaign which in past years has raised nearly $60,000 from generous Victorians who have contributed to the USC fund through the Times.

Cost of the Sam Yook rehabilitation centre, as it is called, will be $15,000, which includes building and facilities to accommodate 140 war-blasted children.

It is part of the over-all USC campaign this year to raise $250,000, which will go towards maintenance and development of 62 USC projects in 11 countries.

The USC conducts an incredibly diversified aid program, ranging from keeping starving children alive to community development schemes.

Core of the continuing project is to make these needy people self-supporting in the manner common to the West, but new to them.

"It's a self-help aim," the doctor said.

In the 15 years the USC has worked in this direction, $1,500,000 has been raised; 8,500,000 pounds of relief supplies distributed; 5,000 children helped "under our roofs" and two entire villages rebuilt. Schools and hospitals also have been established.

"Apart from these things, it is the friendship we show, the concern we evidence, that is the main point in all these undertakings," Dr. Hirschmanova said.

It builds a bridge of love and understanding surmounting by far anything that can be accomplished by politics.

For this reason "there is more and more support coming our way," said the doctor.

One of the largest current projects is building of a 70-bed $50,000-hospital for tubercular children in Mokpo, at the tip of southern India.

On the basis of past performances on behalf of the USC, Dr. Hirschmanova describes Victoria "as the most generous city in Canada."

Canada's Stake in Japan

NATION WINS IN PEACE WHAT IT LOST IN WAR

This is the third in a series of articles for the editor of the Times after a visit to Japan at the invitation of that country's government.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
By a typical paradox of its tumultuous history Japan has suddenly realized in peace the great over-all plan vainly attempted in war.

When it devised the Co-Prosperity Sphere of East Asia and undertook to enforce it by conquest the result was ruin. But within 14 years of that catastrophe in international trade has created an economic empire and new sphere of unprecedented prosperity that gives Japan the highest living standard ever known in Asia, and riches the life of its neighbors and now is providing a major market for Canada.

In this revolution, both economic and political, the primary fact is obvious and little noticed: The military dictatorship of the pre-war and war years tried to make the Japanese islands a continental state by absorbing the Asiatic mainland, whence their civilization came in the beginning.

Purely Maritime

The present democratic system has abandoned continentalism entirely, has created a purely maritime nation, is making Japan the Britain of the Pacific and is constructing the central workshop of Asia, where it takes the world's raw materials and converts them into manufactured goods. This whole process is based on trade.

The anatomy of Japan's trade—small by North American standards but gigantic by the standards of Asia—can be stated in a few figures.

Last year Japanese exports, visible and invisible, were worth $3.6 billions and imports $3.3 billions. This year exports should reach $4.2 billions and imports $3.5 billions.

This is a far cry from the days, only six years ago, when the United States paid for half of Japan's imports, or $500 millions annually, by the expenditure of dollars on American military forces in Japan and other forms of aid, now no longer needed.

By a continuing favorable trade balance Japan has piled up hard currency reserves of $1.2 billions this year and

Private School Grants Proposed

WINNIPEG (CP)—Government financial help for private and parochial schools in Manitoba was recommended today in the report of a Royal Commission on Education.

The commission said in a unanimous recommendation that help could be given to such schools, where they provide a satisfactory standard of education, without injury to the public school system, to unity or to religious toleration.

"Indeed, it may benefit and give more worth to all these. In any case, practical application of the principles of

1896 Compromise Still in Effect

Revival of the question of aid to parochial schools in Manitoba recalled a stormy period in the past of the province. It had separate Protestant and Roman Catholic school systems before 1890, with each group paying the costs of its own schools.

The provincial government wiped out the distinction in 1890 and set up a system of public schools, in which there was no religious difference. After a court and intergov-

One Survivor As Airliner Crashes Peak

BRITISH LINER FREED FROM STORMY SHORE

GIBRALTAR (Reuters)—Tugs today succeeded in refloating the British liner Braemar Castle after gale-lashed seas drove the 17,029-ton vessel aground near Gibraltar Monday night.

With improved weather three British Admiralty tugs helped free the London-bound liner which was carrying 300 passengers.

24 Die Rescue Fails

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI)—A Philadelphia-to-Cleveland Allegheny Airlines plane crashed into South Williamsport Mountain while making a landing approach today, killing all but one of the 25 persons aboard.

The sole survivor was thrown clear of the wreckage and into a tree. He was identified as Louis Matrazzo, of Springfield, Pa. He was in serious condition in Divine Providence Hospital here.

Two other persons were removed alive from the flaming wreckage but died later while being taken to hospital. The plane was still burning several hours after the crash.

A driving snow fell intermittently during the day but had stopped when the plane crashed away from the Williamsport-Montoursville airport to make a second landing approach. Airport officials said a heavy fog covered the area.

The plane, a twin-engine Martin 202, apparently circled to the south and crashed halfway up the 2,500-foot mountain. Normal procedure is to circle north away from the mountain which lies just across the Susquehanna River from the airport.

Two of the survivors were lowered down a 500-foot embankment to a railroad line running along the base of the mountain. A Pennsylvania Railroad yard engine with a baggage car attached then took them to a railroad crossing where they were transferred to ambulances.

A helicopter, from the Gristed air force base at Middletown, Pa., was the only vehicle able to reach the scene until several hours after the crash.

Action Asked On Food Costs

Provincial government action to reduce food costs in line with proposals released Monday by a federal royal commission on price spreads, was urged today by Liberal and CCF spokesmen.

Two Social Credit cabinet ministers had other views. Trade Minister Robert Bonner said B.C. should wait until the report has had full study before taking any steps.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, who formerly held the agriculture portfolio, felt advertising and packaging costs are here to stay.

He did not see how the provincial government could aid the consumer, but the farm producer could help himself by doing more of his own marketing through producer organizations.

REACTIONS VARY

The varied reactions followed a federal probe into the price spread between what the producer gets for his food item, and what the consumer pays.

The two-year study condemned contests, give-aways and gimmicks and all other modern merchandising high spending on promotion.

Russia Ahead On Missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy conceded today that Russia may have superior numbers of intercontinental missiles in the early 1960s. He said he has ordered preparations for an American airborne bomber alert to make up for the "gap."

The retiring secretary (see page 3) told a "swansong" news conference that the military budget going to Congress in January includes money for the Strategic Air Command to practice a continuous airborne alert and to stockpile engines and other critical spare parts.

Asked if a "missile gap" is a foregone conclusion, the secretary said "I don't say there will be. But there can be."

"If Russia builds what it could, and we build what we intend, they will have more missile capability for the period of 1961, 1962 and maybe 1963 then we will have," McElroy said.

IKE'S APPLAUSE 'RIGGED' ON FILM OF EUROPE VISIT

NEW YORK (AP)—Two American networks say their technicians in New York dubbed in some of the crowd noises heard in television coverage of President Eisenhower's recent trip to Europe.

The American Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System acknowledged Monday night that in a few instances recorded crowd noises were used where the real sounds were either lacking or failed to fit in with other films.

The National Broadcasting Company said it used only the sound which actually accompanied the president during his travels.

An ABC spokesman explained: "When Eisenhower was travelling into Bonn from the airport by car, we had only a man with a hand-held camera riding in a truck to cover him, where before we had natural sounds of the crowd. You obviously can't suddenly go into dead silence... so perhaps a little music."

"We never would insert applause if people were sitting on their hands... we used only appropriate sound."

Sig Mickelson, president of the CBS news division, issued a memorandum on pre-recorded sound effects in news programs, in which he said:

"In general, the use of pre-recorded sound effects should be avoided. Where, however, it is impractical to record the natural sound, and such sound is purely incidental, having no bearing on the editorial content of a program, pre-recorded sound effects may be used."

Meanwhile, CBS president Frank Stanton issued a warning to employees that anyone guilty of bribery or "payola" would be fired. Payola is the practice whereby record companies pay disc jockeys to plug records.

NBC announced the appointment of James A. Stabile, a lawyer, as vice-president in charge of standards and practices.

Tories Want Still Bigger House Margin

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party today heard a call for an increase in its massive Commons majority—the biggest in Canada's parliamentary history.

National director Allister Grossart sounded the slogan as the party's national association began a two-day meeting here.

In a convention speech he said the party should work for more than the 208 Commons seats of a total 265—that it won in last year's election.

"I am not willing to admit we can't do better the next time," he said.

NEW ASSOCIATION

The meeting was given evidence of new organizational muscle for the party in Quebec province as the executive of a newly-formed Quebec association made its debut on the national scene.

HOW HUNGARY EXPLODED

'Stalin Fever' Caused Revolt

VIENNA (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today blamed the 1956 Hungarian revolution on his own abrupt denunciation of Stalinism and the Stalinist "cult of personality" at the 20th Soviet Communist Party congress in Moscow earlier that year.

"Following the 20th congress of the Communist party of the Soviet Union," Khrushchev told a Hungarian party congress in Budapest today, "certain difficulties—something of a fever—were experienced by some parties, including our party."

He said the Soviet Communists were so strong they weathered the differences the denunciation brought although there was criticism that the abruptness of the break with Josef Stalin caused complications in other Communist countries.

But Khrushchev said "it had to be done... it was necessary to get cleansed and to throw off all the accumulated extraneous matter."

In Hungary, he said, the problem of class struggle raised by the break with the past took the form of an armed clash. But now, he said, the Socialist countries are so strong they are "invincible."

Khrushchev gave his full backing to the Communist puppet regime in Hungary and in a review of world affairs renewed his protests against continued allied occupation of West Germany.

Railways Ask More Grain Rate Revenue

(From Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Canada's major railroads will ask for increases of 100 and 125 per cent in the Crows Nest Pass grain rates before a royal commission on transportation Friday.

But both lines, the CPR and CNR, will propose plans that, although providing them with greater revenues, will not increase rates actually paid by western grain farmers.

The CNR, it was learned today, will seek a 125 per cent increase in the Crows Nest rates. It will ask that parliament make a grant covering the difference between the existing rates and the proposed rates.

The CNR will tell the MeTague royal commission that such a grant should be based on an estimate to be made each year by the board of transport commissioners on the amount of additional income the railway would earn each year under a 125 per cent increase.

Canada's other major railroad, the CPR, will ask for a 100 per cent increase in Crows Nest rates, but, as a private company, it is seeking to avoid a government subsidy.

A straight subsidy could involve the company in a continual battle with the House of Commons.

The CPR instead will ask for taxation changes so that the additional revenue it would obtain if farmers paid the increase of 100 per cent would be deducted from the firm's taxable income.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

For all Thy blessing, which we can see and say "Thank You"; for all blessings we are prone to take for granted; for blessings we do not recognize as blessings, we lift our hearts in grateful praise to the God Who can make triumph out of tragedy, good out of ill, and glory out of the commonplace. In His name we pray. Amen.

Lookin' at his wife, in Uncle Zeke's prices ain't th' only thing that git spread in th' food bizness.

See they bin riggin' cheers for Ike. Bet they won't hev t' rig any boos for th' TV promoters.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(From Times News Services)

LONDON—Forty Chelsea beatniks—called weirdies in these parts—invaded the home of Transport Minister Ernest Marples looking for a party.

Marples was roused from bed by a knocking at the front door shortly before midnight Saturday. He slipped on a dressing gown and went downstairs.

Two men and a girl, in grubby jeans and loose sweaters, were at the door all set for a party.

They brushed unceremoniously past the minister and up two flights of stairs.

Marples called the police. After a stormy argument, the revellers were escorted out.

Then, in twos and threes, the rest of the party arrived. The police called for reinforcements.

Said one of the "guests," 19-year-old Charles Proctor: "A man grabbed me and said 'Clear out at once.' I did not like his attitude, particularly when he grabbed my arm and propelled me downstairs."

"But he seemed so earnest that I told him: 'If that's the way you feel, old chap I'll go.'"

LONDON—A record price of $182,000 for a book was paid by a New York dealer here today for the 13th-century Apocryphic Manuscript, a life of St. John regarded as one of the most beautiful illuminated manuscripts in existence.

The purchaser was H. P. Kraus.

PARIS (AP) — Watchdogs of the French language have set aside next April 1 for a new campaign to weed out English words.

The French press will be examined line by line on that day by the French Vocabulary Office.

Despite repeated cries of alarm and remonstrance from French purists, such heresy as this is frequently heard or seen along the Champs-Élysées:

"Je prends mon sandwich au bar avec mon boy-friend."

"Ici, Stars Night-Club. Strip-tease show et sexy girls. Drinks au bar."

SOUTH SHIELDS, England —The commander of two Venezuelan destroyers visiting South Shields has ordered his sailors to forego the tradition of a girl in every port until they find a friendlier port.

Fifteen British girls have become enraged to Venezuelans since the ships came here for refitting seven months ago. Last Sunday 50 sailors tangled with 100 local youths and a number on both sides were injured. Two Britons are still in hospital with knife wounds.

$3,600 Pay But Mother Struggling

LONDON (UPI) — The mother of $3,600-a-week television star Dave King prefers to live on her husband's salary as a carpenter even if she does have to pay off her latest debt at 70 cents a week.

That was the opinion of family and friends today after Mrs. Mary Trumey told a court here Monday she could hardly make ends meet.

Her son is one of Britain's most successful television performers. But his wife, Jean, said his mother would not accept an allowance or gifts of money. "She's an Irish woman and very independent," Jean said.

... JAPAN

reducing controls, however, is expanding the so-called "automatic" allocation of foreign exchange to importers of essential materials and is strenuously objecting to many foreign nations' back-door discrimination against Japanese goods.

The perpetual dispute about the rules of fair trade blew up at the recent meeting of the GATT partners in Tokyo but that is a story too long to be told here. In a word, every international sinner against the GATT code protested its virtue and all of them, including Canada, were eager to hurl the first stone.

Such distractions of detail and inconsistencies of commercial morality cannot disguise the total re-orientation of Japan's economy from Asia to the free world—a decision at once economic, political and strategic.

Today the United States is buying a third of Japan's exports, about a billion dollars worth annually, and this year has increased its imports by some 50 per cent. All of South East Asia is buying somewhat less from Japan and there is no significant trade with China, Japan's major prewar market and supplier.

The economic, political and strategic commitment to the West and Japan's dependence on it are complete and irrevocable — unless the West refuses to trade abundantly and thereby forces Japan into the Communist power zone, as Moscow and Peking desire.

That switch of itself would probably wreck the West's whole strategy in the defence of freedom and in this overriding decision Canada has a grave responsibility, as well as a rich opportunity, which I shall discuss in the next dispatch.

The backward economies of Asia and Africa should be allowed to prosper by more primitive production sold in the mature economies. To help them, Japan is investing substantially abroad in local industries and exporting its hard-won capital at the rate of about $100,000,000 a year.

To a North American businessman, controls of the Japanese sort would be intolerable. To the Japanese, in a society still economically hierarchical for all its political democracy, controls seem natural.

The government is steadily

'OUTRIGHT FRAUD'

"It extends into many fields and ranges from exorbitant prices and usurious interest rates to outright fraud, deceit and victimization of the public," said Mr. Perrault.

He said his party would establish a department of consumer affairs to work with an anti-fraud squad and volunteer consumer councils in the province. The consumer should also be represented in major labor-management disputes, he felt.

Provincial CCF Leader Robert Strachan said he was not surprised by the price spread findings.

"It's time we had a full-scale investigation into the price practices of major manufacturers ... It has come out in the U.S. and in Britain recently that the major cause of inflation has been the pricing practices of major manufacturing firms," he said.

PRESSURE URGED — Mr. Strachan said at the provincial level the government should "dig out the facts and make them public, then use them to pressure Ottawa" for price regulation.

He said also the provincial government should note the recommendation concerning establishment of producer marketing boards for fishermen.

COSTLY PACKAGING — Mines Minister Kiernan, speaking for Agriculture Minister Newton Steacy who is in hospital for a check-up, agreed if food producers could do more of their own packaging and food handling through their own co-operatives, they would receive a greater share of the final selling price.

"The Coast Marketing Board is doing almost all its own packaging," he noted.

"During the years I was minister of agriculture, I recognized the spread between what the producer was getting and the consumer was paying was expanding. It could be traced to the fact there is a greater demand for more small-unit packaging, with more eye appeal. This has helped keep the producers in the business."

"The consumer seems to want to buy (for instance) carrots that are washed, and in small packages. It's the kind of service the consumer is apparently demanding, that's why it's widening. I don't think you'll ever reverse that trend."

The minister added that with respect to advertising and promotion costs, "there is a school of thought that if you have a good product, the customers will support you. But I feel you have to let everyone know about it."

He said when the government undertook to promote B.C. products, "the general acceptance improved."

still pay a share of public school costs.

Establishment of a commission to handle grants to private school corporations was recommended by the royal commission today.

It also suggested a formula to determine grants, in which one factor would be the relation of enrolment days in private schools to the number of enrolment days in public schools.

The Free Press estimates that the grant scale recommended would have meant $1,500,000 to the private institutions in 1958 and would have paid half the operating and capital costs of most of them.

The commission recommended that every private and parochial school be required to incorporate as a private school corporation. No such corporation would be permitted to operate schools in more than one school district but it could operate any number of schools within a school district.

Each school would be subject to inspection by a provincial school inspector "but only to determine whether it affords education on the whole up to standards of the public schools in the district."

The commission also recommended a core of academic subjects for Manitoba schools, and rigid restriction of "frills."

It also recommended improved religious training in public schools, reorganization of teacher-training and the education department and better facilities for gifted children.

FLUORIDE OPPOSED BY N.Y. OFFICIALS

'Every Human Instinct Outraged'

LONDON (Reuters)—Canadian Justice Minister David Fulton's failure thus far to commute the death sentence hanging over a 14-year-old Ontario boy "outrages every human instinct," a British Liberal newspaper says.

The Guardian of Manchester devotes an editorial to the case of Steven Truscott, a boy who has been under a death sentence since Sept. 30.

The paper notes that the boy had been convicted of the murder, following the rape killing of a 12-year-old girl.

"His execution by hanging was last week postponed from Dec. 30 until Feb. 16 in order that defence counsel may have time to prepare an appeal," the editorial says.

"If, as seems to be the case, the Canadian Minister of Justice Mr. Fulton is bound in any case to exercise the prerogative of mercy, it outrages every human instinct that he does not relieve the boy now and remove the grim situation of a schoolboy waiting in the death cell for the minister's decision.

"The law of Canada still makes it mandatory for a court to pass the death sentence, even though the convicted person is under the age of 18.

"Since 1933, nobody under that age in England can have the death sentence passed upon him.

"Britain was late enough in reforming its law, and Canada is later still. To maintain such a system in the middle of the 20th century is deplorable.

"The one benefit from the Truscott case is that it may stir the Ottawa Parliament into action in January."

Probe of Nuclear Policy Probable

(Times Ottawa Bureau).
OTTAWA—The federal government is considering putting Canada's controversial $31,000,000 a year atomic power program before a parliamentary committee.

Government sources indicated today a committee may be asked to probe the nuclear power program at the coming session, which opens Jan. 14.

"We would welcome a thorough airing of the entire question," said a spokesman. "If such a review proves we are on the right track, the public will be reassured."

CRITICISM RISING

Canada's atomic program has come under increasing attack in recent months.

A leading consulting engineer, Winnett Boyd, has said that "Canada will waste hundreds of millions of dollars if it designs and builds nuclear power stations which cater more to the desires of the scientists than to the economic facts of life."

"It is my contention that Canada's present nuclear program is leading us in this direction."

Canadian scientists, through Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, have been working solely on atom plants using natural uranium, with heavy water as a moderator and a coolant.

DIFFERENT IN U.S.

In the U.S., the emphasis has been on enriched uranium—the enriching process, which requires vast amounts of electrical power, being a necessary step in the production of nuclear weapons.

U.S. Atomic Energy Commission officials have testified their belief that the Canadian system will rank seventh among basic reactor types in terms of cost per unit of power.

Canada's program is based on the belief that the use of natural uranium as the fuel, a much cheaper process, will prove to be the most economical after further development.

'Big Name' Petition For Chessman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Convicted author Caryl Chessman's bid to escape the gas chamber has gained support from 23 professional people, including noted psychiatrist Karl A. Menninger, TV star Steve Allen and writer Aldous Huxley.

Dr. William F. Graves, former staff physician at San Quentin prison, where Chessman has been held in death row for 11½ years, also signed the "friend of the court" plea submitted Monday to the Supreme Court by Chessman's attorneys.

The Supreme Court is expected to decide within a few weeks whether to grant the convicted rapist a hearing. The appeal is against a California court decision that directed the death penalty for the eighth time.

Chessman contends he still has not received a fair hearing on his challenge to the trial record.

The latest move in the long, involved legal fight by Chessman to escape the gas chamber asks specifically for an order granting him either complete freedom or a new trial.

U.S. Gets New Defence Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today announced the resignation of Defence Secretary Neil H. McElroy and named undersecretary Thomas S. Gates, Jr., to succeed him.

The announcement came after a National Security Council meeting this morning where the President presented the Medal of Freedom to McElroy "in recognition of his outstanding service to his country and his dedication to his task."

McElroy's resignation was effective today. In an exchange of letters between McElroy and Eisenhower made public by the White House, McElroy said that "personal reasons of an urgent nature" necessitated his resignation after two years.

in the top defence job. He said he would leave the department with "feelings of deep regret."

McElroy, 54, plans to return to Procter & Gamble, the soap manufacturing firm he headed before joining the Eisenhower cabinet in 1957.

Word of his resignation plans had come earlier today from informed sources here. McElroy had said previously that he hoped to resign by the end of the year.

Gates, a former Philadelphia investment banker, was under secretary of the navy from 1953 to 1957 and secretary of the navy from 1957 until earlier this year when he was named to succeed the late Donald A. Quarles as number two defence man.

CIVIL SERVICE PAY

Clash Ducked By Young Tories

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's young Progressive Conservatives, mindful of the federal government's rejection of a civil service pay increase proposal, declined Monday to put themselves on record as favoring higher pay for government employees.

The young Conservatives at their convention here also sidetracked a resolution advocating recognition of Communist China and its admission to the United Nations.

But they voted approval of a resolution calling for outlawing of all trading stamp plans—a food-marketing device which came under criticism in the report of the royal commission on price spreads issued earlier Monday.

The convention concluded by electing Bennett Carr, 29, a Charlottetown insurance executive, as the new president of the Young Progressive Conservatives of Canada.

The question of civil service salaries arose on a resolution proposing endorsement of the government's "announced intention" to set up a commission to study efficiency in government operations.

But the issue centred on the tail end of the resolution, which said the inquiry "will ultimately result in a better paid and more efficient civil service."

That part of the resolution was deleted after William Whiteacre of Toronto said it "flies in the face of government policy."

Bargaining Rights Asked

(Time Ottawa Bureau).
OTTAWA—A CCF MP will introduce a bill at the coming session of parliament to grant federal civil servants bargaining rights.

Frank Howard, member for Skeena riding, will file the bill within the next few days.

It would bring civil servants under terms of the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act, which provides for bargaining procedures for all unions under federal jurisdiction.

Howard's amendment would not allow civil servants to strike to back up wage demands.

Instead, disputes would go to conciliation, and the majority report of a conciliation board would be binding on both the government and the civil servants.

At present, federal civil servants are embroiled in a bitter pay battle with the Conservative government. Protest meetings have been held across the country.

The government has refused a general pay boost in accord with its hold-the-line policy.

The Canard of Suez

IT IS REGRETTABLE THAT MR. Diefenbaker has revived the canard on Canada's action during the Suez crisis.

Speaking to Ontario Conservatives early this month, the Prime Minister said: "I need hardly add that the action taken by the Liberal Party in 1956 at the United Nations, when they put Britain and France in the same bag as aggressors with the U.S.S.R., will never take place with a Conservative Government in power."

The statement is regrettable because it is not true.

It is regrettable because the Prime Minister has apparently used a falsehood of mean and divisive character for political purposes, in an attempt to discredit the work of the leader of the opposition, Mr. L. B. Pearson, Canada's former minister of external affairs and Nobel Peace Prize winner.

Maclean's Magazine, which gives allegiance to no political party, puts this matter plainly and truthfully.

Mr. Diefenbaker's statement, says the magazine, "is a distortion of fact on which any careful readers of the newspapers could have put the Prime Minister right. Coming from a man who has acted for months, on two occasions, as his own minister of external affairs, such a loose statement is difficult to understand."

Indeed it is, if Mr. Diefenbaker did any homework at all on external affairs.

"Canada has never at any time, or under any government, put Great Britain 'in the same bag' with the Soviet Union or any other aggressor," says Maclean's. "Canada's habitual role in foreign affairs is to do all she can to unify, or when necessary to reconcile, the policies of Britain and the United States. It is a useful and honorable role in which all Canadians take pride, and it has been played many times by Canadian governments of both political colors."

"This Canadian role was never more valuable, and certainly never more difficult, than during the Middle East crisis of 1956. The Suez adventure, undertaken by a sick prime minister of Britain who concealed his intentions not only from his allies but even from his own officials and colleagues, impaired Anglo-American relations more than anything that has happened in modern times. It damaged even more the new Commonwealth of Nations, whose enlargement to include India and other Asian nations was one of the great feats of postwar policy by the other members of the Commonwealth. It could have led, and very nearly did lead, to the complete isolation and humiliation of Britain and France before the world.

"This calamity Canada labored hard and fruitfully to avert. In the long and complex series of resolutions that came before the United Nations during that memorable fortnight, the Canadian line was consistent—always in favor of compromise and conciliation, always against futile name-calling. Another fact that appears in no official record, but was known to everyone attending the 1956 UN General Assembly, is that Canada did more than any other one nation to prevent the introduction of any resolution naming Britain and France as aggressors."

Maclean's notes that Canadians, including those who were not Liberals, took pride in Canada's action—among them Mr. Diefenbaker's first minister of external affairs, the late Dr. Sidney Smith, whose first words in office were a tribute to his predecessor on this particular achievement.

It is gratifying to see that Mr. Howard Green, present minister of external affairs, has avoided any repetition of his intensely bitter remarks on the issue, spoken when he was in opposition and unfamiliar with the situation.

It is unfortunate that Mr. Green's example has not been followed by his chief who, misrepresenting the matter with what can be only the narrowest partisan political intent, discards the fine and effective principle of bi-partisan foreign policy that has won Canada high credit in the eyes of the world—and he the man whose duty it is to unify the nation, not to split it.

The Backfire

PREMIER BENNETT'S PROUD boast that the province has no debt has backfired. His effort to maintain the fiction of debtlessness means that the province merely backs payment of the half-billion dollars' worth of bonds outstanding—the province's agencies and municipalities are the direct borrowers.

The country's financiers, of course, are not fooled by this method of bookkeeping. They recognize that British Columbia has an ultimate liability for the debts since the taxing power of the province is the final security for the loans. But a more immediate impediment to borrowing under this system has appeared.

Recently a number of serial debentures amounting to more than $3.5 millions were offered by the province in the name of a variety of lesser municipalities. A hospital at Golden, a waterworks at Fulford Harbor, were typical of the long list of specified issues. Only one unconditional tender was submitted, representing a total of 6.8 per cent, which the province turned down. (At about the same time, the City of Victoria placed similar debentures at a cost of only 6.44 per cent.)

The reason given for the lack of enthusiasm among financial houses was that it would be very difficult to sell the bonds of such relatively unknown borrowers; there just wasn't a market for this type of security. On the other hand, if the entire $3.5 millions had been offered by British Columbia as a direct debt of the province, the bonds could have been disposed of much more easily and at a much better rate.

Mr. Bennett is thus the victim of his own little pretence. Where he will now turn to borrow the $3.5 millions worth of debtlessness is not yet known. But the province cannot be financed forever on temporary bank overdrafts.

Rules for Elk Lake

SAANICH SPOKESMAN HAS stated that enforcement will be the most difficult feature of new safety regulations laid down for motorboats on Elk Lake.

The municipality, he points out, cannot afford to keep a full-time police officer and a police boat on that body of water to see that speedboats do not intrude on the east side of the lake or endanger children and others swimming there.

If violations occur, he says, Saanich will be forced to ban power boats entirely on that water.

Absence of a police boat may be considered a weakness. At the same time it should bring about a condition most desirable in solving the long-run problem of fast craft at water resorts. Boating enthu-siaists will have to police themselves at Elk Lake or get off it.

A very large number of boat owners will agree with that procedure. Apart entirely from their own appreciation of courtesies required from people driving speedboats, they know that a few heedless drivers can kill the sport for everyone. Knowing that, they may be expected to take adequate measures against any who refuse to observe the rules.

From that could come a broadening concept of responsibility by speedboat operators—a concept of responsibility applicable not only to Elk Lake but to other bodies of water where heedless speeding endangers life and limb of others enjoying their lawful recreation on or in the water.

The Breached Blockade

IN MEXICO CITY THE OTHER day Soviet first deputy premier Mr. Anastas Mikoyan said that Russia no longer needs to import the "strategic materials" embargoed by the United States.

Indeed the Kremlin's latest tourist to Latin America, "we have a surplus to sell elsewhere if wanted."

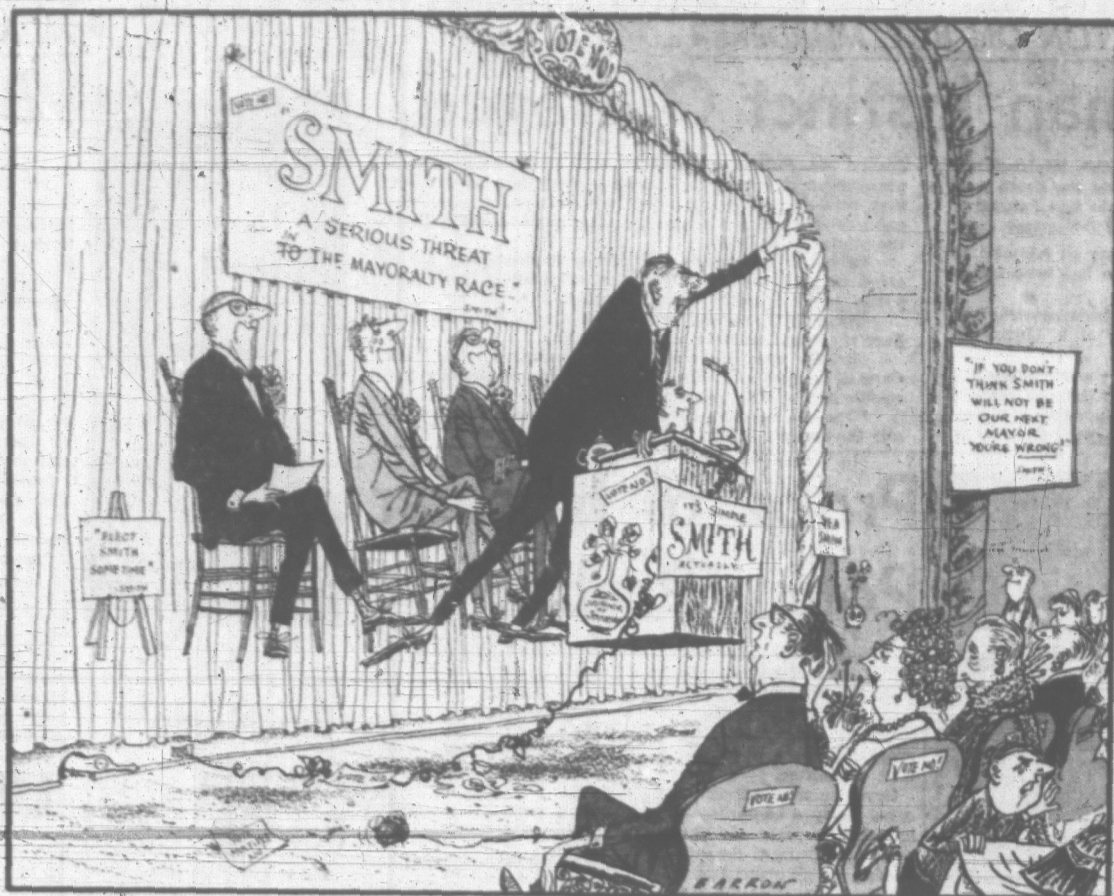

The statement should occasion no surprise. Russian intelligence and ingenuity are quite capable of developing "strategic materials" withheld by the West or of devising substitutes for them.

Mr. Mikoyan's statement serves only to emphasize the point that a vigorous nation is not blocked permanently by an embargo. It may be slowed down temporarily. But the very vigor with which it devises means of overcoming the embargo can often help it forward to new and greater achievements.

Conceivably the Russian achievement could be repeated in China, where the list is longer.

Even if it isn't the embargo becomes a tragically weak weapon when a blockade can be set up on one side only and the import roads for "strategic materials" are wide open from the other.

"... Our platform is built on a solid foundation of public service ... we stand four-square on a firm footing of ..."

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Will China's Experiment Succeed or Fail?

ONE tremendous question fills this reporter's mind at the close of the most absorbing bout of inquiry in a long experience. Can the Chinese Communists carry their ruthless and terrible experiment to a successful conclusion? In the briefest summary, the attempt is being made to transform ancient agrarian China—under forced draught, into a military-industrial giant.

For this purpose, huge capital investments and other outlays are necessary. The Chinese peasantry are paying the bill; and the hundreds of millions of Chinese peasants have therefore suffered a fearful drop in their level of life.

As has been suggested in previous reports, the experiment is plainly patterned on Josef Stalin's forced industrialization of Russia. Stalin succeeded. But the differences between Stalin's situation in 1929 and Mao Tse-tung's situation in 1959 are great enough to raise doubts about Mao's success.

One Advantage

If you draw up a balance sheet, Mao has one advantage over Stalin—but only one. China's labor force today is not merely vastly greater than the Russian labor force in the period of the early Five-Year Plans. In quality, it is also a better labor force, more teachable, more industrious, and more easily deployed for great projects.

It would be the height of folly to underestimate what Mao can achieve by his almost military mobilization of China's magnificent manpower. But it is almost equally foolish to underestimate mate Mao's disadvantages, all of which derive from China's poverty and overpopulation.

Forced industrialization of a poor, heavily overpopulated country, like China, is inherently far more difficult than forced industrialization of a basically rich, underpopulated country, like Russia in 1929.

The main cause of this difference lies in the problem of the standard of life. In either kind of country, if the states takes more, the people have to get on with less. Thus a drop in the living standard unavoidably occurs in the first phase of any program of forced industrialization. It happened in Russia. It has also happened in China.

But a sharp drop in the living standard of a country already very poor, as China was poor, has consequences of a special character.

Multitudinous Grievs

I can recall nothing in history quite like the picture of the Chinese countryside today, that is gradually built up by interrogating the wretched people who have gone through the wringer. In the end, you begin to think of Mao's peoples' communes, not just figuratively but quite literally, as:

... prisons, where with multitudinous

China's peasants, sick and sinless, all a laboring race repines, like a race in sunken cities, like a nation in the mines."

By the same token, when you hear the peasant escapees describing their former work hours and rations, you cannot avoid asking yourself how long this can go on. Will not something give somewhere, you wonder, before the grand aim of China's full industrialization can at least be attained?

This question has also been asked, and on a very high level, in Peking. "The rightist-inclined opportunists," who are now under such vicious attack, are simply Chinese Communist leaders who have dared to ask this question.

Whatever gives, of course, it will not matter much as long as the Army stays loyal. But fears about the Army are evidently felt, and again on a very high level, in Peking. Otherwise, it would hardly have been necessary to install the former chief of secret police, Gen. Lo Jui-ching, as the Army's new chief of staff.

Legendary Tyrant

Looking at Mao's China, in short, one cannot help recalling the China of Ch'in Shih Huang Ti. That almost legendary tyrant also reunited and remade his country. He further transformed China into a great power, stronger by far than any the world had known before.

But the burden Ch'in Shih Huang imposed was too heavy. The Chinese people, at a given moment, decided they had had enough. The Ch'in empire, founded in 221 B.C., collapsed into ruin and nothingness only fifteen years later.

Remembering Ch'in Shih Huang is no answer, to be sure, to the tremendous question I have posed. The best answer to it was given, I think, by one of the wisest men in this city, who told me, "Anyone who says the Chinese Communists will surely succeed in what they are doing is a plain fool; but so is anyone who says they will surely fail."

And to this must be added the further fact that any decisive failure in China is only too likely to provoke Soviet intervention, on the Hungarian pattern.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

No Special Favors

According to a press release covering an election speech made by mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith, M.L.A., at a recent election meeting, reported verbatim in the local newspapers, he is quoted as saying inter alia:

"But I say that the Chamber of Commerce is getting special favors. They have had a great influence on this council and on previous councils, with few exceptions, for the past forty years."

I have no knowledge of its influence on this council, or on the councils during the past eight years that may have been engendered by the Chamber of Commerce, but must categorically refute Mr. Smith's statement as applied to the years 1940 to 1951 inclusive, during which period I served as a member of the Victoria City Council, the first four years as an alderman and the last seven years as mayor.

As I consider it my bounden duty to protect the good name of the council of those years, I say in all honesty that I did not experience, or become cognizant of, any undue influence on the part of the Chamber of Commerce or by its individual members.

'But for the Grace of God'

While appreciating all the good work being done by YMCAs everywhere, I cannot help remarking on the travesty of Christianity shown by the Central Y of Winnipeg, under the direction of General Secretary, James McConnell, as reported.

When a Young Men's Christian Association declines to help those suffering from the disease of alcoholism because they are a "trouble," then I think we really have a sick society.

"AA"—does a tremendous job, I believe, in fighting the social illness of "drinking," but it's not "their" problem only, and we have all got to realize in this, and every respect of weakness, that "there, but for the grace of God, go I."

For Better TV

I welcomed the advent of independent television to Victoria, CHEK TV. I appreciated its service to the community. However, I am one of the many annoyed by its marked adverse effect upon my previous perfect, all-channel reception.

At the time a petition was being circulated against CHEK, Mr. Armstrong assured me of his sincere intention of doing everything possible to place Channel 6 in a new position least likely to interfere with Victoria's unique reception of all channels.

Like many others I have awaited patiently.

Now with the news of Mr. Armstrong's renewed efforts to have Ottawa permit a change in broadcast location I feel that the several thousand persons who signed the petition should be joined by others affected as I am in writing letters to the members of parliament for the Greater Victoria area urging their proper support of Mr. Armstrong's endeavor.

Our reception will be improved and we will be helping a progressive independent organization to continue its excellent service to the community and receive its just reward in greater potential prosperity.

House of Dior Look

IF a faun could go through a needle eye it would come out looking rather like Yves Saint-Laurent. He is uncommonly fine drawn and, with a designer's eye to effect, enhances this spindle shanks look by the tightness of his own clothes.

With strangers he is also uncommonly withdrawn, breaking out now and then into a grin half-secretive, half-placatory. It would not be surprising if this boy of 23 felt the burden of embodying the house of Dior—an enterprise that combines the art of high fashion in Paris with the business of marketing accessories in Britain.

Saint-Laurent is directly responsible only for the first, to the tune of drawing about a thousand sketches a year from which he sifts the Dior collection. If this is a burden it is unshared. It all comes out of his head, he says, outside influences like last year's prismatic affect only the finishing touches.

He claims in fact the standing of an inward-looking artist. "I do not decide that skirts shall be short or long. The shape of the dress itself often dictates the length."

He deals in subtleties. Mention a pre-1914 designer like Poiret or hobble-skirt fame, and he smiles: "Fashion was a little naive in those days, both the clothes and the way people talked about them."

Clothes are more austere now and so are the critics. Poiret made clothes for individual customers "but I wouldn't like to make a dress just for its own sake" ("La robe pour la robe").

What Saint-Laurent aims at is the total effect: a dress show, he acknowledges, comes to be more and more like a theatrical first night. No wonder after this that Saint-Laurent seems unperturbed at the word "theatrical," use of his work by unfriendly critics.

No wonder either that what he brought him here is his first commission as a theatrical designer—the clothes for the big ballet "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Aldermaston Again

There is to be another Aldermaston march next year. The executive committee of the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament recently decided to repeat this year's demonstration over the 1958 Easter weekend.

No official announcement has been made, but it is expected as soon as the co-ordinating committee on which the regional groups are represented has met to give its views.

When last Easter's march was planned there were many doubts as to whether it would be heard saying that it would do the campaign more harm than good, the numbers would be less than in the first march in 1958.

As it turned out the second march made the first seem a small affair, and on Easter Day some 25,000 people attended the final rally in Trafalgar Square. Obviously the committee must believe that next year's march can bring still more. There is even a whisper going around that the campaign aims at getting 50,000 to the Easter Day meeting.

But if those who march the way from Aldermaston to London—about 4,000 did last time—increase much, the campaign will have a formidable administrative problem on hands.

Exchanges

Fresh from signing a cultural agreement with the United States, Mr. Georgi Zhukov, president of the Soviet State Committee for Cultural Relations, arrived in London by air from Moscow the other day, for talks on further cultural exchanges with Britain.

Mr. Zhukov heads a Soviet delegation of five. The British delegation, led by Mr. Robert Allen, Joint Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and includes Sir Paul Sinks, director-general of the British Council.

That a member of the Government is taking part indicates that the discussions may range over a wider field than just a program for exchanges for the year beginning next April.

It is expected that a new agreement will set out a program of exchanges of people, information, and exhibitions covering science, medicine, agriculture, the arts, on the lines of the agreement reached in Moscow last March. The British Council is particularly keen to see wider exchanges of students.

Meanwhile, last-minute objections Soviet officials led to the withdrawal about 30 items from the first British book exhibition in Moscow, opened the weekend by the British ambassador.

A Soviet official said that they "gave a false impression of certain aspects of Soviet policy and contained inaccuracies."

Fastest Speaker

On the Labor side there are a number of contestants for Mr. Leslie Hall's laurels as the House's fastest speaker, but on the Conservative benches there seems to be something which slows man up and makes him deliver his parliamentary pronouncements at a dignified crawl like a Daimler in traffic.

It is all the more encouraging to Mr. Paul Channon, the member for Southend West, who still after the influx of new members at the election remains the youngest in the House should also be one of the fastest.

He made his second speech in the House on the Betting and Gaming last week and Hansard shows that just 18 minutes he delivered over six columns, and that in spite of being interrupted by some pretty ponderous interruptions.

He may still have a little way to go before he rivals the delivery of Mr. Alan Lennox-Boyd, one of the few fast Tories, but what he has to be most envying. He is far from being a rubber-stamp Tory, and if views on betting are anything to go by we can expect some healthily radical views from him in the future.

Mr. Channon's father, his predecessor at Southend West, had a reputation for speaking. Perhaps now the making-up for his father's lost time by special arrangement with The Queen.

Something Is Missing

THERE are people who think that a summer home (or summer shack, as in my case) is a something thing.

They're quite wrong. A summer home or shack is an always thing. You can use it at any season. In winter you can drop in to it, spend the better part of a day stoking fires to drive out the damp and cold and fall exhausted into a bed that isn't quite dry to enjoy a sleep that you keep telling yourself will set you up for a week.

Stott

Beyond that, even if you don't get up to the place, you can spend the full year worrying about what's happening to it.

You meet an acquaintance who has a summer home close to you and he tells you of a break-in at the cottage next door. Maybe you worry about similar intrusions at your own establishment, but not me. There's nothing worth stealing in our shack.

Still you wonder if the high winds have brought down trees across your roof. You wonder if something has fouled the power lines and caused you trouble. You hope the work you did during your vacation hasn't yielded to the elements. You offer a small prayer that no grouse has flown through your big window. And you hope you put things away as you should have before winter set in.

It so happens that we did most of the camp closing we should have done, but forgot one item. We didn't tie up The Log.

The Log is sort of a tradition with us at the Lake. I have felt that we need it like a bullrope needs something projecting into his pond—a sort of site from which to define his own importance.

With an animal cunning, primitive engineering, and brute strength, I have projected The Log into the lake for the last 20 years. The end, in deep water, I've secured with piles driven by sledge hammer. And on the piles I've mounted a diving board. That was the site from which I tried to define my importance to any audience I could capture and hold captive.

With more modesty than I have shown in the last half century, I confess now that I once thought I could dive.

Hence The Log was essential to the proper nourishing of my ego. No log, no diving board, no site to define my own importance.

But logs in Shawigan do not stay anchored by piles driven by sledge hammer. As the lake rises, so do the piles and as the level of the water goes up the structure of early summer's hard labor, lifts and then gently tips over. Higher water washes it out of position and unless the log is tied, the whole caboodle floats off to parts unknown.

That has happened at the lake this winter. The shore is now unsullied by the awkward carpentry of an amateur engineer and a more amateur diver. The Log is gone, piles and all. The waters lap insensately above the site where I once sought to define a transitory importance.

This, it seems on reflection, is all for the best.

Better that the lake should claim my diving equipment than that my diving equipment should claim me.

And if the lion and the lizard keep the courts where Jamshyd gloried and drank deep, who am I to deny the crawfish and bullheads the mud bottom where I once burrowed after a successful dive?

Next summer it is doubtful if any piles will rise beyond my little jetty to hold a springboard. A pair of knees from which the bounce has long departed will no longer be put ineffectively through the motions of a diver's hurdle. Conceivably, too, I'll be spared the punishment of slamming onto water in stunts that miss.

Still the ego dies hard. Even when it was necessary to lure an audience to the shoreline with copious libations and insist that its members watch if they hoped for refills, there was some satisfaction in their polite applause. A man could pretend not to hear the murmured comment, "The silly old goat's at it again."

The rising lake and the wayward log have put an end to all that. Perhaps this is the opportunity to age with grace. The actuality is gone. The memories are better—and quite a lot easier on the supply of summer libations.

YOUR HEALTH

Digestive Cancer

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

People write asking what are the symptoms of cancer of the digestive tract. Cancer in the back of the throat may cause pain and some difficulty in the first part of the act of swallowing. The person will find it hard to get a bit of food down into his gullet. Cancer in the gullet or at the upper end of the stomach may show itself at first by a difficulty in swallowing solid food. Liquids may go down easily, but meat may have to be washed down with some water. Any man or woman past 40 who for the first time in his or her life, has trouble swallowing, should immediately have the gullet and stomach X-rayed, and in case of doubt, looked into by an expert who uses a lighted tube.

Alvarez

Cancer of the stomach produces different symptoms, depending on where it is and how big it is. If it is in the pylorus, (the valve at the outlet of the stomach), it may produce mainly vomiting of large amounts of fluid and food, with rapid loss of weight and severe constipation. If it is in the upper end of the stomach, it may produce nothing but difficulty in swallowing, or a little pain. In rare cases, I have seen it produce at first only a marked anemia. This was due to the oozing of blood from a large ulcerated area. In some cases a little blood will come up when the patient vomits. Anyone who develops pain in his stomach for the first time after the age of 40 had better hurry to a doctor the next day and get X-rayed.

The next common place for cancer of the digestive tract is in the large bowel and particularly in the rectum. There, the common symptom is constipation which appears for the first time after the age of 40 or 50. This is a decided danger signal, and must be attended to immediately. Bleeding from the bowel also calls for a careful examination, even when the patient has piles (hemorrhoids). The physician must not only have the bowel X-rayed but he must look into the rectum with an electrically lighted tube.

In some few cases the patient complains of severe anemia. In other few cases I make the diagnosis the minute I hear from the family that their father, who perhaps is 65 or 70, has suddenly begun to have tremendous gurgling sounds coming from his bowel, such as he never had before. Sometimes there is pain in the abdomen made worse by eating. Occasionally the first sign of serious trouble is jaundice due to the heavy invasion of the liver by cancer cells that have come from a small silent cancer in the stomach or bowel.

Marked loss of weight and strength are late symptoms which mean usually that nothing curative can be done.

If a person has the marked danger signals (such as I have described in a book on Danger Signals which I once wrote) and his rushed and terribly overworked doctor makes no examination and just gives a prescription, the patient must search immediately for another doctor, who will have him thoroughly examined in every way, and who will quickly face the great seriousness of the situation.

Any number of people write to me hoping that I will criticize or at least discuss their doctor's treatment. They tell what his diagnosis is, and what treatment he is following, and then they want me to say wherein I think he is making a mistake. I wish people would stop putting these problems up to me, because I just haven't the facts on which to base any comment. Their doctor who has examined them, and perhaps studied them thoroughly and on the spot has a hundred times better chance of being right than I have—if I were to hazard a guess without the information I would need to have.

Hence it is that to all such people I will say, "You will have to trust your physician. If you really are very distrustful of him, you have a perfect right to ask for a consultation, or to go to another physician." Many a time when a person writes asking me what to do for, let us say, Hodgkin's disease, I cannot even be sure that that is what he has. Often the diagnosis comes so mis-spelled that I have to guess at it, and sometimes for the life of me, I cannot tell what the doctor said. Many people who want an opinion from me admit they are in a hospital with several good doctors taking care of them. When people have as much good medical care as that, I do not feel that I should try to get into the game.

Russia Joins West In Antarctic Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States, Russia and 10 other nations today signed an historic treaty to keep the Antarctic continent free of military bases and open to peaceful scientific exploration.

The 14-article treaty was the product of seven weeks of negotiations. It represents the first time Russia has joined in such a pact with the U.S. and other Western countries since the outbreak of cold war hostilities.

The document bans all weapons testing and nuclear explosions on the South Pole icecap—an area of 5,000,000 square miles which is equal to the size of the U.S. and Europe combined.

Prohibition Finally Beaten In Two Counties of Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Perth and Huron county residents turned out in force Monday to vote in a federal plebiscite that favored revocation of the old Canada Temperance Act by sweeping majorities.

The two counties have been under the jurisdiction of the 1878 federal act, which prohibits sale of liquor or beer, at various times since 1884 in Huron and 1914 in Perth. They were the only areas in Canada still under the act's jurisdiction. Provincial legislation, which provides for local option on beer and liquor sales on a municipal basis, will immediately take force with revocation of the federal act.

PARIS (AP)—West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer came to Paris today for another round of talks with President de Gaulle. Spokesman emphasized that they agree completely on major issues facing the Western Allies, but some lesser disagreements have cropped up.

Observers speculate that despite this unity, they will at least review such pressing matters as plans for the Western summit meeting in Paris Dec. 19, the status of West Berlin and German reunification, the disarmament problem and European unity.

Adenauer and de Gaulle also will undoubtedly discuss the chancellor's visit last month to London, in which he and Prime Minister Macmillan patched up some differences.

Today many men "compel" themselves to salt away about 10% of all they earn for their old age, the emergencies of life and the replacement of family income if death strikes unexpectedly, by investing in long-term permanent personal policies of life insurance.

SYNOPSIS—Skies were cloudy over the coast and northern B.C. this morning with rain occurring at many points. With a southerly flow of air prevailing from the Pacific over western B.C. temperatures are quite mild and during the next 24 hours this mild Pacific air will continue to edge eastward into the interior.

Offshore a disturbance is moving rather slowly toward the coast and by Wednesday morning it is expected to be moving inland. This will bring some clearing to the province but temperatures will tend to become somewhat cold.

'Better Business Bureau Overdue'

By HAL MALONE, Times Business Editor

"There is no instrument more effective in stamping out rackets and fraudulent promotions than publicity."

"In the glare of newspaper publicity, unethical promoters and their salesmen are unable to exist."

That's what the man said. The man? William Templeton, general manager of the Better Business Bureau in Vancouver.

Straight-talking Bill Templeton told the BBB's annual meeting co-operation between the press and the bureau saved the public as much as $20,000,000 last year. Nobody can say that isn't a better business practice.

Nobody can say how much the public lost in Victoria last year. The reason: Victoria doesn't have a Better Business Bureau.

Certainly, as Times stories have indicated, the Chamber of Commerce is doing a yeoman job of trying to fill a BBB function. But its budget is too sparse, its personnel too occupied with other business, to do a first-class job.

MORE CONSCIOUS

A growing flow in inquiries to the Chamber and this office indicate the buying public are becoming more conscious of the need to "investigate before investing."

But efforts by the Chamber and the Times to keep the public informed and unethical salesmen unemployed is at best a token try. Shoddy promoters and boiler-maker salesmen, run out of Vancouver by the BBB, still look longingly on Victoria as a salesman's paradise.

A recent Times column on the problem brought this letter from Vancouver BBB boss, Bill Templeton:

"Dear Sir: Your article 'Apathy Big Stumbling Block to BBB' is, indeed, founded on fact."

"A Better Business Bureau in Victoria is long overdue. Six or seven years ago I addressed a group of business and service clubs. After the meeting there appeared to be in unanimity as to the need and enthusiasm on the part of a sizeable group who remained after the meeting to discuss ways and means."

"At this date and in view of present conditions I recommend a Better Business Bureau of Vancouver Island, embracing all of the business firms. Frankly, I think what is needed is the will to accomplish. Finance could take second place. I put finance in second place because it is easier to get support for something existing than for something that may come into being."

"I have found this to be true. Each year we have added more new members than the previous year, culminating in 1959 when we added three times as many new members as in 1958."

"I would be glad to help if you need me."

Yours sincerely,
W. L. Templeton,
General Manager."

Earlier this month this column warned householders that a flock of book salesmen had migrated to Victoria. No fault was found with their pitch—a tiny payment plan covering four or five magazines.

But it was said that A, the magazines can usually be bought individually at a price lower than that charged by the salesmen; and B, apart from a scant selection of top-grade books, the consumer was left with a group of "dog's" (non-quality) publications.

Shortly after the column appeared a member of the Chamber of Commerce staff had her door tapped by a book salesman.

She listened carefully to his spiel. To add prestige to his presentation, the salesman pulled a card from his pocket, flashed it and said: "We are endorsed by Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade everywhere. It says so right here."

When the woman asked to see the card, the salesman folded it hastily into his pocket. Then, without further adieu, he too, folded... into the night.

"There's no doubt about it! Old Port cigars have got a flavour that's really satisfying. For me, it's just right."

Big Jump in Productivity Necessity

TORONTO (CP)—There is a good chance that Canada's gross national product will increase 5 per cent in real terms in 1960, and even more if exports surge as some people seem to expect. A. C. Ashforth, president of the Toronto-Dominion Bank, said today at the bank's annual meeting.

A 5 per cent growth would be above the postwar average, but below this year's estimated increase of about 7 per cent—to $34,500,000,000.

Looking over the full decade of the 1960s, Mr. Ashforth said that with expected population increases Canada will have the wherewithal in labor and consumers to increase goods and services by about 50 per cent—about the same as in the 1950s. Real living standards on a per capita basis should increase by 25 per cent.

In terms of today's dollar, gross national product would probably pass the $50,000,000,000 mark before the 1960s are out and perhaps in time to coincide with celebration of the country's 100th birthday in 1967.

Over the next decade there would be significant changes in the proportions of certain older and younger age groups in the population.

"This means that workers more old and young people will be called upon to provide a higher standard of living not only for themselves but for absolute necessity."

Operation of Purchase Fund—It is a condition of this issue that the Company will operate a purchase fund. The Company undertakes to use its best efforts to purchase during each quarter of each calendar year to maturity, commencing January 1, 1960, when available in the open market at prices not exceeding the original issue price, plus accrued interest, at least 1/4 of 1% principal amount of the bonds maturing January 1, 1985; at least 1/4 of 1% principal amount of the bonds maturing December 15, 1964 and outstanding on the first day of the quarter; and at least 1/4 of 1% principal amount of the bonds maturing December 15, 1971 and outstanding on the first day of the quarter. The Company may, however, in any quarter of any year apply to this undertaking the purchase of those bonds made during the immediately preceding twelve months and not previously credited. At maturity the maximum amount of each issue which would be required to be purchased under these provisions would be fifty percent of the bonds maturing January 1, 1985, ten percent of the bonds maturing December 15, 1964, and twenty-four percent of the bonds maturing December 15, 1971.

Delivery dates—The 5 1/2% bonds will be dated January 1, 1960 and will bear interest from that date; delivery of definitive bonds will be made on or about January 4, 1960, without payment of accrued interest. The 5 3/4% bonds will be dated December 15, 1959 and will bear interest from that date; delivery of definitive bonds will be made on or about December 15, 1959.

Payment—Principal and interest payable in lawful money of Canada. Principal payable at any Agency of Bank of Canada. Interest payable without charge at any branch in Canada of any chartered bank.

Registration and Transfer—Bonds may be registered as to principal or as to principal and interest. Definitive bonds will be available in two forms: bearer form with coupons attached (this form may be registered as to principal) and fully-registered form with interest payable by cheque. Bonds of both forms will be in the same denominations and fully interchangeable as to denomination and/or form (without charge and subject to the Company's transfer requirements where applicable). The Bank of Canada will act as registrar of this issue and transfers and exchanges may be effected through any of the Agencies of Bank of Canada.

Authority—These bonds will be a direct obligation of the Canadian National Railway Company, the capital stock of which is owned by Canada, and under authority of the Parliament of Canada payment of the principal of these bonds and of the interest thereon will be guaranteed unconditionally by the Government of Canada.

Purpose—The cash proceeds will be applied by the Canadian National Railway Company to the repayment of interest-bearing capital advances from the Government of Canada.

Subscriptions—Subscriptions may be made to Bank of Canada, Ottawa, through any investment dealer eligible to act as a primary distributor or through any bank in Canada. Subscriptions will be received subject to allotment or rejection in whole or in part. The subscription book will close at 8.00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time December 2, 1959. ## FANS DIP IN POCKETS . . .

Chiefs Get One-Week Reprieve

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Hockey fans dipped into their pockets Monday night and donated $300 to Keep Kamloops Chiefs of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League in operation for at least another week.

About 200 fans attended a special meeting to decide the club's future. The team has been plagued by falling attendance and the club executive said it would fold this week.

After a two-hour discussion failed to produce a solution, it was suggested from the floor that those present donate enough money to pay player salaries for the week.

Of the money collected, $150 came from the sale of season tickets. The remainder was donated.

. . . PUCK CLUB $1,900 IN RED

The club now will conduct an intensive season ticket drive in an effort to keep the team active for the balance of the season.

Club president Dr. George Smith told the meeting the club now has a deficit of $1,900 and was falling behind about $300 a week.

The four-team loop—with teams also from Kelowna, Vernon and Penticton—has been plagued by dwindling attendance and rising costs for the last two seasons.

Dr. Smith said it costs about $1,200 a week to operate the club. At least four players must have guaranteed salaries as they were not working and would leave Kamloops if they received no income from hockey.

Maximum salaries are $75 a week.

Carbo May Pay More to Piper

NEW YORK (AP)—Frankie Carbo, sentenced Monday to two years in jail as an undercover boxing manager and matchmaker, was taken into custody by federal authorities today to face an attempted extortion charge in California.

Men from the United States marshal's office took Carbo from the Rikers Island penitentiary.

Carbo is one of five defendants charged in a Los Angeles federal court with trying to cut in on the earnings of Don Jordan, welterweight boxing champion.

On Monday, Carbo received his first behind-bars sentence in more than 30 years.

SYMBOL OF DEGENERATION

The state labelled Carbo a symbol of boxing's degeneration from a sport to a racket. But defence counsel Abraham Brodsky protested:

"The so-called sport of boxing should be abolished in this state. It serves no useful purpose. If boxing is a racket today, it has always been a racket and will always be one."

Carbo, 55-year-old relic of a gangland background, pleaded guilty a month ago to unlicensed management of prize fighters and unlicensed arranging of bouts—including, the state said, televised fights from Madison Square Garden.

Carbo's okay was needed before certain fights could even be held in the garden.

UNDERCOVER CONTROL

He was depicted as wielding undercover control of a top-flight stable of boxers, including lightweight champion Joe Brown and such former champions as Jimmy Carter, Virgil Atkins, Johnny Saxton, Kid Gavilan and Carmen Basilio.

Alfred F. Scotti, chief assistant district attorney, said as Carbo faced sentencing in general sessions court:

"Our investigation clearly revealed Carbo as the dominant figure in the professional sport of boxing . . . I believe it is fair to say that the name of Frankie Carbo today symbolizes the degeneration of professional boxing into a racket."

Sentencing Judge John A. Mullen took into consideration Carbo's health—he has diabetes, a heart condition and a liver ailment—in giving him only two-thirds of the maximum three-year prison sentence. But Mullen added:

LONG MERRY DANCE

"You've had a long and merry dance in pursuit of your power, but the time has come when the piper must be paid . . . your words were tantamount to a command performance. The improper, illegal influence enriched you to a degree which I cannot even contemplate. The long arm of the law is reaching out and taking anything you have."

Currently pending against Carbo are state and federal tax actions involving more than $1,000,000.

The last time Carbo was handed a prison term was in 1928, when he was sent up for 20 months for manslaughter in the killing of a cab driver.

MONTREAL—Rory Calhoun, 163, White Plains, N.Y., outpointed Tony Masciarelli, 165, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 10-0, in a 10-round decision.

NEW YORK—Bobby Nell, 130, New York, 1-0, outpointed Davey Moore, 130, New York, 1-0, in a 10-round decision.

CHARNLEY FIGHTS BROWN WEDNESDAY . . .

Dave Has Blessing of British Boxing Brass

LONDON (CB)—When Dave Charnley steps into the ring at Houston, Texas, Wednesday night at attempt to relieve Joe Brown of his world lightweight title he will be trying to end a nine-year run of unsuccessful challenges by British contenders for world boxing crowns.

The 24-year-old boilermaker from Dartford, Kent, is the first Briton to enter an American ring against a champion since Brian London was stifled by Floyd Patterson earlier this year, a short time before Patterson himself yielded his heavy-weight crown to Ingemar Johansson's shattering hand.

Charnley's five-year professional career suggests better prospects than those of London or of Bobby Nell, who lasted two minutes against Davey Moore, the feather-

Sailors Took Too Long To Get on Right Course

Pattersons Torpedo Navy In 6-5 Hockey Thriller

It finally happened. Navy took a beating in Victoria's Commercial Hockey League.

After chalking up victories in their first five games, the Sailors finally fumbled at Memorial Arena Monday night, just missing with a spirited closing rally as they dropped a 6-5 decision to the improving Patterson Construction club.

Playing before 1,009 fans, the builders fashioned a 6-2 lead in the opening two periods and barely managed to hold on for their victory in a furious final session that had the customers on the edge of their seats.

In the second game of the twin bill, Army shook off the shackles of a scoring slump and pounded out an 8-0 win over Vics as goalie Vince MacDonald chalked up the season's first shutout.

Victory boosted the soldiers into a third-place tie with Vics in the four-team loop.

Patterson, who lost their first three starts, made it three wins in succession by determined checking that hounded the Navy forwards most of the game. The Pats also appeared to have caught up with the sailors in the matter of conditioning and may be ready to give the Navy a battle for first-place honors.

ARMY WINS

Hampering the Navy attack was the absence of high-scoring Neil Standley, who suffered a head injury Sunday in a soccer match.

Pattersons grabbed a 4-0 lead in the opening period and the Tars never could close the gap although they gave it a tremendous try down the home stretch.

Navy played the last 80 seconds with six attackers and an empty net. They kept the puck buzzing around the builders' net but couldn't pull out a tie.

Orval Coulter paced Pattersons with two goals and an assist while Cliff Uhren scored two goals for the sailors, who outshot their rivals, 35-18.

Army, held to one goal in each of its last two games, worked hard for the shutout victory, getting two goals in the second period, then erupting for six in the third as Vics' defence collapsed.

Whitely Ashworth was high point man with a goal and two assists while Army goalkeeper MacDonald stopped 19 shots, including three breakaways, and Vics' netminder Ron Griffiths kicked aside 25 of 33.

INTER-LEAGUE TRADE

Giants Plug Mound Staff

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—San Francisco Giants have acquired Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes from Baltimore Orioles in an attempt to plug an undermanned pitching staff that cost them the 1959 National League pennant.

In return for the left-handed starter O'Dell and Loes, an erratic reliever, the Giants had to give up Jackie Brandt, a talented outfielder, Gordon Jones, a mediocre relief pitcher, and a third player not to be named. The player, it was learned, is Roger McCardell, a rookie catcher who batted .260 at Phoenix last season.

It was the first major deal in the unprecedented inter-league trading period which began Nov. 21. But in may have paved the way for a major swap between Washington Senators and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers during the minor league convention here.

WANT RETE RAMOS

The Dodgers and Giants have been competing for Pete Ramos, the Senators' star right-hander. San Francisco offered either Brandt or Felipe Alou, another outfielder, for the 24-year-old Cuban, who had a 13-19 record with the last-place Senators last season.

Mike Lee, an 18-year-old left-handed pitcher who received a reported $80,000 bonus to sign with San Francisco last spring, was drafted by Cleveland Monday as the major leagues selected 14 minor league players for $340,000.

For the first time, the annual player draft was divided into two sections. After the usual unrestricted draft of veterans, the clubs had their pick of first-year men still on minor league rosters.

Lee was the only first-year man selected. Most of the other bonus babies had been protected by moving them up to big-league rosters, but Lee, left in the minors on the Giants' Phoenix, Ariz., club, was fair-game for Cleveland's general manager Frank Lane, at a $15,000 price ticket.

ANOTHER LEE

Washington had first draft pick as a reward for its consistent performance in finishing last in the American League. The Senators chose pitcher Don Lee, no relation to Mike but son of Thornton Lee, former Chicago White Sox southpaw pitcher.

Four clubs—Philadelphia, Kansas City, Detroit and San Francisco—each took two players; Washington, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and the Chicago Cubs one each.

Except for first-year man Lee, the price tag on each was $25,000.

BILKO TO TIGERS

There were many familiar names on the list. Steve Bilko, the hulking first baseman who played with St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati and Los Angeles in the National League before landing at Spokane, a Dodger farm, was taken by Detroit.

The Tigers are desperate for a first baseman and are gambling on this 31-year-old player who batted .305 apd hit 28 homers last year in the Pacific Coast League.

CITY BOWLERS Lead Doubles At Vancouver

VANCOUVER—Reg Fugh and Fred Billisburgh of Victoria are leading in the doubles at the halfway mark of the first annual B.C. all-events ten-pin bowling championships at Lomey Lanes here.

Fugh and Billisburgh scored 1,321 Sunday for a four-point edge over Pat White and Norm Fiddler of Vancouver. Other B.C. doubles teams will have chances to try to top the Victorians' total next Sunday as the two-weekend tournament ends.

Victoria teams were well back as Fugh took the team event Sunday with 5,150 points. First in singles, the only other two-weekend competition, is Bob Everett of Vancouver with 712. Bill Hitcher led the Victoria contingent with 664.

'PASS WORD AROUND RESERVE' SAYS JUDGE

DUNCAN—"I'm rather perturbed so many Indians have been appearing in court on charges of intoxication," Magistrate A. C. Sutton told a group of five men and one woman fined $10 or 10 days and $6.50 court costs, each here Monday.

"You can pass the word around to your friends on the reservation that I intend to take some action to end it. I can do that by interdiction," Magistrate Sutton said.

The RCMP corporal acting for the Crown told the court each of the accused had been arrested Saturday "for their own protection."

Sewage Lagoon Talks Okayed

DUNCAN—City council has been given the green light to start negotiating for a 20-acre sewage lagoon on Cowichan Indian reserve land.

The go-ahead came Monday from Indian Agency superintendent F. A. Clark.

Council and members of Cowichan Indian reserve council made a trip last June to inspect a seven-acre sewage lagoon serving about 750 people in Port Alberni.

"Chief Elwood Modeste and members of the Indian council were impressed. If there were evergreens around the place it would have looked like a park," Ald. R. K. Cairns said at that time.

FAIR RENTAL

Mayor J. T. Dobson said Monday the city fathers had "tried to work with the Indians as individuals and had approached Eddy Elliot of the Cowichan band and asked him what a fair rental would be for a monthly lease rent."

Mayor Dobson said council wanted to obtain 20 acres of Indian land. About one-half of the required land would be leased from Mr. Elliot and the rest from a second Indian.

"We definitely hope to go ahead," Mayor Dobson said.

He pointed out that land ownership boundaries on the reserve are "quite a problem," and the plan would require a legal survey to distribute the rent equally.

"We want to go along with town planning as such as we can," Mr. Clark said.

David Batty, Duncan has received as award as top B.C. rider in the western stock saddle seat classification.

Jean Dunbar has won an English equitation pin for the third consecutive year.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

Toronto, Ont. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished quickly and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan Tablets.

Dristan Tablets cost only $1.25 for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

SALT SPRING MISHAP ARGUED IN COUNTY COURT

Motorist Beats Charge Because He Crashed on Private Property

A Salt Spring Island motorist drove his car over a 30-foot bank, but because it was private property he could not be convicted of careless driving.

That was the verdict of Judge J. B. Clearhue in a county court decision Monday afternoon when he dismissed a conviction against William Stewart of Beaver Point, Salt Spring Island.

Mr. Stewart had been fined $20 and $5 in Ganges RCMP court Oct. 3 for driving without due care and attention.

He appealed the conviction in county court in Victoria.

His car ran off the Mount Point log dump, Salt Spring Island, on Sept. 21, plunged over a 30-foot bank and landed on the rocks on all four wheels with the rear wheels in a foot of water.

Mr. Stewart and his passenger, C. J. Brewsbaugh of Ganges, were found sitting in the car in "a dazed condition."

They were taken to the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital and treated for shock and bruises.

W. Berkely Monteith, for Mr. Stewart, argued that the Mount Point log dump is not a public highway but private property, so he could not be convicted of driving to the public danger.

Mr. Monteith said the definition of a highway was amended under the B.C. Motor Vehicles Act of 1959.

"I submit it was never the intention of the legislature that the definition of a public highway should be extended to private property."

OVERGROWN TRACK

He held that the road was "nothing more than a track overgrown with grass leading to a logging dump."

RCMP Constable Harold E.

Bonner, stationed at Ganges, said the road or track was used by Salt Spring Island loggers as well as by private passenger cars and trucks.

"I drive down it myself to check on teen-agers with liquor," he added.

Mr. Stewart said his car went off the road while he was making a turn.

Judge Clearhue said the crown had failed to prove that the Mount Point logging dump was a public highway. Nor had they produced evidence to show careless driving.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Police Hold Arson Suspect

VANCOUVER—Police were holding a suspect Monday night as fire department officials continued investigations of possible arson in connection with a spectacular three-alarm fire that sent flames shooting 100 feet in the air and tied up traffic in a wide area.

The blaze, in a drying kiln at Norwood Lumber Company in downtown Vancouver, followed a smaller fire at the waterfront dock of Evans, Coleman and Evans Limited, to which two fire crews and the police fire boat had already gone.

At the height of the blaze on the Norwood property, heat was so intense that four 12,000-volt power transformers on a nearby pole exploded. No injuries were reported and no estimate of damage was available.

SUNDAY SPORT PROBE

PRINCE GEORGE—Operation of Sunday sport here is being checked by RCMP.

Staff Sergeant J. A. Young.

RCMP head here, said Monday one of his officers attended last Sunday's hockey game here and reported tickets were being sold at the gate.

Later evidence will be turned over to the city prosecutor for a decision on whether or not to submit it to the attorney-general.

CIVIC BOOST SOUGHT

VANCOUVER—The civic employees union here is expected to seek a 20-cent-an-hour wage increase for its 1,600 outside workers when it opens 1960 contract bargaining with the City of Vancouver.

Secretary Jack Phillips said the union membership will be asked to ratify the proposal at a Dec. 14 meeting.

Still unannounced are the contract proposals of about 1,300 Vancouver police and firemen, as well as 1,400 city hall employees.

GUILTY IN SHOOTING

NEW WESTMINSTER—A 19-year-old youth was found guilty of attempted murder by an assize court jury Monday and remanded without date for sentence.

Marvin Dewey Willoughby of Katz Indian Reservation, six miles west of hope, was charged in the shooting at Peter John, also of Katz.

Peter John told the court he was in bed after drinking wine for several hours with the accused and was unaware anyone shot at him. The bullet passed through the mattress and into the wall of his home.

The youth fled.

TUG TRIUMPHS

VANCOUVER—The tug N. R. Lang is back safely in her home port here following a 7,300-mile tow from Quebec.

The 143-foot craft, owned by Kingcome Navigation Company, weathered a hurricane in the North Atlantic during the tow, which began at Quebec Sept. 19 and ended here Saturday.

The Lang picked up two Great Lakes freighters, the 253-foot Picton and David Barclay, Powell River Company Limited planned to convert them to chip barges. The Picton didn't make it all the way, taking such a pounding she had to be abandoned at Panama.

IF EMERGENCY IN DUNCAN

Ten Mounties 'Available'

DUNCAN—Sgt. T. C. Fraser, head of the Duncan RCMP detachment, assured city council Monday that in an emergency all 10 RCMP officers stationed here would be available.

At present the city pays for three policemen. Council heard the city gets the benefit of extra police service because of the detachment being centred here.

door of the police station and "stood and waited," when no one answered.

"Had he returned to his office and telephoned the police there would have been no delay," Sgt. Fraser said.

The telephone and radio communications are set up, he said, but if there are no prisoners there might not be a man on duty at night, the sergeant said.

BUILDING WAY DOWN

Officials Named For B.C. Ferries

Appointment of three senior officials for the new B.C. government, Sidney Tsawwassen ferry service was announced Monday by the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority.

One of the posts went to a Victorian, R. B. Worley, former executive assistant to Premier Bennett, more recently operator of an ice cream retail chain and salesman for the government publication "Beautiful B.C."

Mr. Worley will be assistant general manager and traffic manager at a salary of $8,000.

Top post of general manager went to M. F. Aldous, North Vancouver, at $10,000 a year. He is former manager of Packers Steamship Company and was for five years superintendent of housing for Canada Packers Ltd.

William B. Weston, also of North Vancouver, was named marine superintendent of the two-ferry operation — another $8,000 a year job. Mr. Weston was supervisor of engine during construction of the Mv Tsawwassen, the ferry which was launched at Burrard Shipyard Saturday. He is a marine engineer.

Mines Minister, Kiernan, who made the announcement on behalf of the toll authority, said the first two appointments take effect Jan. 1 and the third at a date to be announced.

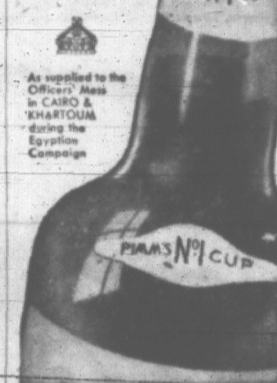

The ferry service is expected to begin operations next summer.

PHOTOS, GUN OPEN TRIAL IN ALBERTA MASS-MURDER

RED DEER, Alta. (CP) — Photographs showing a home in Stettler, Alta., and a garage where seven bludgeoned and shot bodies were discovered were introduced Monday when the murder trial of Robert Raymond Cook, 23, opened in Supreme Court.

Cook is charged with the murder of his father, Raymond Cook. The body of Raymond, his wife and five children were found June 28 in a makeshift grease pit at their Stettler home.

Const. George M. Sproule of the identification branch of the RCMP detachment in Red Deer was on the stand throughout the opening session.

Photographs showed stained mattresses and bed clothing; the grease pit, covered by old car-tires and wheels, and the pit after the bodies had been discovered, indicating where the bodies had been found.

FOUND GUN BUTT

Also introduced as an exhibit was the butt of a gun, discovered at a funeral home in clothing which had been wrapped around one of the bodies of the children.

Other exhibits were a brown-stained grey coat and grey trousers and brown-stained shoes.

Earlier a six-man jury was selected and Crown prosecutor J. W. Anderson of Edmonton addressed the jury briefly, outlining the Crown's case against the accused.

Cook was brought here Sunday from Fort Saskatchewan jail and was held in custody in RCMP cells until he appeared in court. He showed little emotion and was neatly dressed, wearing a white shirt, sports coat, slacks and brown well-polished shoes.

A crowd started to gather in front of the courthouse shortly after 9:30 a.m. Spectators remained outside until the jury was selected, and the court ready to proceed with evidence. The trial is expected to last four or five days.

Cook was responsible for Alberta's greatest manhunt when he escaped July 10 from Ponoka Mental Hospital where he was committed for observation. The peak of the four-day search saw more than 200 heavily-armed men, including members of the army provost corps, comb the central Alberta countryside. Dogs and aircraft also helped.

SPRINGHILL ASSURED NEW MINE WILL OPEN

HALIFAX (CP) — Coal mining appears certain to return to Springhill, Mines Minister E. A. Manson said Monday.

Springhill Coal Mines Limited, headed by D. Owen Hartigan of Sydney Mines, N.S., has applied for a licence to operate a mine with a potential production of 500 tons a day.

While few men are expected to be employed in initial stages of production, the working force could reach 150-200 men after full development.

Two Sailors Pay Heavily For Car Ride

Two naval ratings fined a total $825 on charges of impaired driving, taking a car without owner's consent, driving under suspension and without a licence, face a profitless few months ahead.

Brian Robert Purdom, 20, of HMCS Naden, and William Gervin Lowrie, 20, of 465 Kingston, pleaded guilty to the joint charge of joy-riding and individual charges of impaired driving. Purdom also was charged with driving without a licence, and Lowrie with driving while suspended.

Magistrate William Ostler on Monday gave Lowrie nine months to pay off his $450 fine, and Purdom will pay his $375 off at the same rate of $50 a month.

Police stopped the two in a car owned by Keith Phillips, 465 Kingston, who said the keys had been taken from his pocket overnight last week. The auto was driven by both men, one taking over from the other after the first man was stopped.

Referring to the heavy penalties and extended installments, Magistrate William Ostler remarked, "This is probably the best lesson they could get."

(OSCAR CLASS) "DON QUIXOTE" (Fox) — Although Russia's adaptation of Cervantes' classic "Don Quixote" has its faults, mostly technical and stemming from the necessity of running English subtitles that are not always visible, it, nonetheless, emerges as a film that every person should see.

What is more, it is filmed in one of the most impressive use of color ever seen.

So often the colors in color photography, especially such hues as reds and blues, are so brilliant that they offend the eye and take away from the realism of the subject. In

"Don Quixote," however, the play appears to be in black and white with the colors being accidental, more the way one sees things in one's own mind where the colors are assimilated into a complete picture without one item marring the over-all unity. Indeed there are individual scenes that in staging and coloring remind one of canvases by such masters as Brueghel or Velasquez.

HE GIVES AWAY
GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngest who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to James Wilson, aged 11, of Milwaukee, Wis., for his question:

How do pupae, cocoons and crissalises differ?

Certain insects go through a pupa, or sleeping beauty stage, during which they change from grubby caterpillars into glamorous adults. Mother Nature provides each little insect with a suitable resting place while this amazing change is going on. He must be kept warm and quiet and he must be as inconspicuous as possible. Some insects spend the pupa stage in a tough, leathery crissalis, others are wrapped in a cocoon—a soft blanket of silk. Both the crissalis and the cocoons are going through the insect's pupa stage of development.

Not all insects go through a pupa stage. Some, like the grasshopper, hatch from eggs into miniature copies of their parents. These midgets are called nymphs and they grow by molting, by shedding their skins for larger skins. Several molts are necessary before the nymphs are fully grown. As a rule, wings appear after the last molt. The pupa insects go through four different and distinct life changes. They begin as eggs which hatch into grubby worms or caterpillars. They are then in the larva stage of insect life. All caterpillars are larva, very different in appearance from their adult parents. In a matter of days or weeks, the larva eat their fill and go to sleep. The pupa stage begins.

The caterpillar of the silkworm moth spins itself a soft cocoon from a thread of silk a quarter mile long. The fuzzy, woolly caterpillar, black with a red waist band, is the larva of the small yellow Isabella moth. This cozy caterpillar spends the winter in his larva stage, feeding on pointed plantain leaves. Come spring, he winds himself in a fuzzy cocoon and becomes a pupa while he changes into a moth like his mother.

No Friends of Mankind

Most, but not all, moths pupate in silken cocoons. The wide-winged sphynx moth pupates as a hard-coated purple crissalis. There are a hundred or so different sphynx moths and in their larva stages they are among the biggest pests known to man. The tomato worm, the potato worm and the tobacco worm are caterpillars of various sphynx moths. When they have eaten their fill of our vegetables and salads they drop to the ground and spend their pupa stage in the ground as hard crissalises.

The butterflies all spend the pupa stage wrapped in sturdy crissalises. The tiger striped monarch caterpillar feeds on milkweed and spends his pupa stage in a crissalis of milkweed green. The mourning cloak pupa is like a crisp brown burr, hanging from the brown twig of an elm, the tree on whose leaves it fed as a caterpillar. Angle wing butterflies form brown, shell like crissalises, which hang unnoticed from trailing hop vines. The cabbage butterfly has a crissalis which is as green as a cabbage leaf. Growing ants go through the pupa stage in silken cocoons.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Tommy Williams, age 11, of Skyland, N.C., for his question:

How are young hummingbirds fed?

Mrs. Hummingbird provides the groceries for her precious brood of babies, which are no bigger than bumble bees. She uses her long, curved beak to gather up small insects which hide themselves among the petals of fragrant flowers. She also gathers sweet nectar from certain blossoms. This food is swallowed and partly digested, then home she darts to feed her hungry family.

The mother bird pumps the food deep down into the throats of the baby birds. All day long she is kept busy darting to and fro, gathering food, partly digesting it and stuffing it into her children.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Scouts and Cubs of the past 35 years met for a recent reunion dinner in the Glasgow Avenue Scout Hall, attending from Sooke, Ladysmith, Duncan and other Vancouver Island points.

Chairman was Harold George, chairman of the Scout committee, while Cliff Kirchin, assistant scoutmaster, was emcee.

Guests included Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich; Mrs. Dorothy Spurr, who started the first North Quadra Cub pack; Arnold Wratten, Duncan, and assistant district commissioner Jim Blain.

Close to 50 scouts were present. Mr. Blain, said there were now 8,500,000 Scouts in 100 countries.

Cub John Calland presented a bouquet to Mrs. Spurr in recognition of her work in starting the Cub pack more than 30 years ago.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—To escape the disc jockey and payola talk for a spell, I went to see Michael Flanders and Donald Swann who promptly began gossiping about disc jockeys in England... who, over there, are strangely enough called "disc jockeys".

"It's just accepted that a certain amount of this sort of thing does go on there, too," shrugged Flanders, the bearded wheel-chair sitter who does most of the talking in their two-man show, "At the Drop of a Hat".

"Always be sincere whether you mean it or not" is one of the pearls of advice tossed off by Flanders in the brilliantly brittle performance. It seems to match the blithe-spiritedness of Americans about the payolas and quiz shows. England still has some quiz shows but then they have a strange kind of quiz show there—they're honest.

"Flahanders," as it should be pronounced, rips away at our hallowed institutions all evening. He likes tennis, he supposes. "But I can't get over the fact they are bashing a ball with the gut of a cat".

He mentions a fictitious celebrity "who was going to be This Is Your Life" until they looked into it". He and Swann, a gifted pianist, asked the customers to join in a song, and they did, gustily. Flanders had taken the precaution of saying, "Tonight, of all nights, we expect a good response, because attendants will be passing among you with rawhide whips."

The next payola scandal will reach into the high brackets charging even top broadcast brass with accepting pay money for their companies, thus defrauding the FCC's limitation on commercial time, as well as cheating paying sponsors of their sponsorship. Some Very Important People are worried—they could go to jail for this on "commercial bribery"—and, politics being what it is, they may do so. But how would it look—Vice Prez in Charge of Broadcasting at Alcatraz?

Honest, when attractive Sylvia Sullivan was about to go on Hy Gardner's TV show, her husband, Ed Sullivan, reminded her, "There's just one thing you keep doing at all times—smile." Jack Benny told a Wash'n audience, "You think I'm cheap. How about Robert Merrill? He brings his wife along as accompanist to save $75." Pretty Lynne Bowin of the Bronx—now in "West End Story"—is a Wilson Girl nominee.

The Midnight Earl... Kim Novak's frequent N.Y. escort, Dr. Ernest Wynder, visited her in L.A.; he said she'll be here this month... Irony: Dick Clark's book, just out, is titled "Your Happiest Years." Aly Khan's most recent gal flew to Beverly Hills while his French honey, Bettina, is in town... Sylvia Syms says she's sliced off 85 lbs. through psychiatry... Singers Rose Haraway and LaVerne Baker battled in an east side cafe... Is George Jessel's wife, Jerrylyn about to make him a father-in-law?

Ramon Novarro will star in "Marriage-Go-Round" on stage in Spain, doing the Charles Boyer role... Actress Nina Foch is putting together a cook book, titled "Romantic Recipes"... Singer Connie Francis almost called off her Carnegie Hall show when her manager, George Scheck, collapsed backstage. (She went on after learning it was an ulcer attack.)

Earl's Pearl: Singer Sheila Reynolds tells of a reverse payola—she'd pay disc jockeys NOT to play some records. Today's Best Laugh: A chorine is a girl who thinks that the most sinful way to get a mink coat is to pay for it herself.

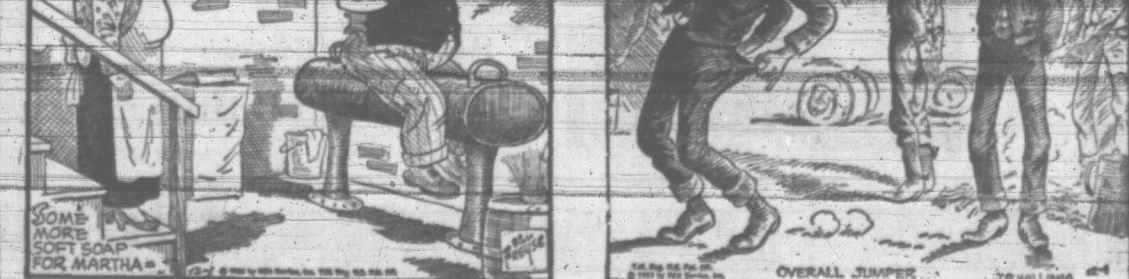

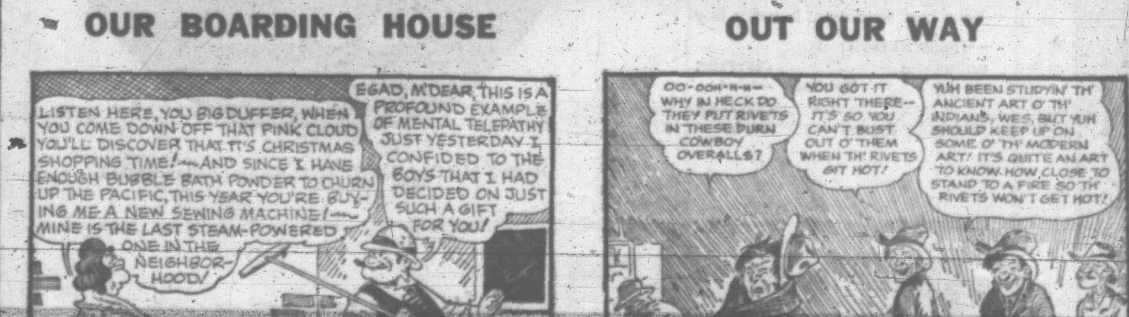

WISH I'D SAID THAT: If you ask some women, their idea of a rich relative is a wealthy ex-husband. We hear that Santa just bought a new model sled. It has the reindeer in the rear. That's earl, brother.

HE REMEMBERS BACK WHEN . . .

Visit to B.C. Maritime Museum, Signal Hill, today brought back flood of memories for 88-year-old Robert Logan, North Vancouver, who was born in Dockyard residence on site of parade ground of HMCS Venture, navy cadet training establishment. His father was Royal Navy Armorer, and Mr. Logan served apprenticeship at Dockyard in days of sail before joining navy. For last 38 years before retiring, he was with Burrard Dry Dock. He holds model of Yankee clipper ship. (Times Photo.)

... HERE AND THERE . . .

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Raise your teacups in the Empress Hotel lounge—this afternoon.

Maestro Billy Tickle is celebrating his 31st anniversary as purveyor of the light tea and crumpet music which has made the Empress famous.

He sounded his first crotchet there in December, 1928, after many years of making music for the movies. He led the orchestra under the screen at the old Pantages Theatre and recalls augmenting it to 30 players for the silent classic Birth of a Nation way back in 1922.

Which reminds me of that civil defence conference held in the Empress recently. Dr. Gordon Shrum of UBC invited discussion on the maintenance of food supplies in the event of a nuclear attack.

Discussion was interrupted by the chairman, who said: "Excuse me, gentlemen, but I'm told if we don't have our tea break now we won't get any."

Teaching youngsters to sing carols is fun. A four-year-old came out with: "Good King Wench-less got knocked out, 'In the feast of Stephen."

When popular sightseeing driver Rebel Mowat entered St. Joseph's Hospital recently, he joked: "They're going to put me to sleep for a while—like Rip Van Winkle."

However, I'm glad to say Rebel is making good progress after treatment for a skin ailment. And I'll wager he keeps the nurses laughing.

Whimsicalities: I hear that a London bookshop is assisting sensitive customers by supplying copies of the "shocker" Lolita in the dust jacket of Lord Woolton's Memoirs.

A rival firm is trying to boost sales of His Lordship's laborious reminiscences by selling them in the dust jacket of Lolita.

Fluoride Foe Challenges City Doctors

An anti-fluoridation Seattle medical man today challenged three leading Greater Victoria fluoridation proponents—two medical practitioners and a dentist—to a public debate.

Dr. F. S. Exner, a radiologist, issued the challenge through Mrs. Lydia Arsen, president of the Victoria branch, National Health Federation.

He aimed his attack at Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, Victoria-Esquamalt medical health officer, Dr. Hugh Botsman, city medical practitioner, and Dr. W. W. McLuhan, city dentist, all of whom have been speaking strongly in favor of fluoridation of Greater Victoria drinking water.

Dr. Exner, together with Dr. Arthur McWhinnie, a Seattle dentist, spoke here recently knocking fluoridation. Subsequently, Drs. Botsman and McLuhan answered point by point, the charges the Seattle pair had made.

ASKS PROOF

Dr. Exner said he wanted "proof" of research done on fluoridation as offered by the Victoria men, "where, when, and by whom."

Arrangements will be made for the public debate, said Mrs. Arsen, if it is picked up by any one of the three fluoridation backers here.

Light Up Tonight for 'Porchlight Brigade'

Annual Kiwanis porchlight campaign for funds to develop senior citizen housing is scheduled tonight at 6.30.

Target for some 1,500 canvassers is $30,000. It will go into a building fund for a 38-cottage Kiwanis Villa. Provincial grants also are sought for the $500,000 project.

"We are asking the people of Greater Victoria to be generous in their contributions tonight and to leave their porchlights on as a guide to our canvassers," said Reg Harris, campaign chairman.

"We know there are a great many fund-raising campaigns but we ask the public to remember that contributions made tonight are of a lasting nature."

"A donation is a gift that never dies, because it goes into construction of cottages that are going to be used 24 hours a day for years to come."

Tonight's campaign is the seventh since the club launched Kiwanis Village which now contains 50 low-rent cottages for senior citizens.

'Independents' Facing Doom, Farmers Told

Big Industries Gaining Control

A warning that independent farmers in B.C. and elsewhere in Canada will pass out of existence unless they take steps to preserve their economic independence, was sounded today by H. D. Arnold of Duncan, president of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

Mr. Arnold, addressing the opening session of the Federation's annual two-day convention at the Empress Hotel, noted that more and more farms in the province were falling under the control of large industries.

SHARP DECLINE

"Between 1949 and 1959 there was a decline of 29 per cent in the number of self-employed farmers in Canada, and there is no doubt that B.C. shared fully in this decline," he said. "The question now so commonly asked is 'can the independent farmer survive?'"

Mr. Arnold felt that he could, providing there was "organized farmer action."

He said this could be achieved through co-operative marketing and processing programs.

In addition, he said, independent farmers should work to develop means of controlling their products through every phase of their production.

17,000 REPRESENTED

"To preserve our independence it also will be necessary to use every organization we have, and every weapon which the law allows," he said. "In particular, more use will have to be made of marketing legislation and co-operative marketing of the most effective kind."

More than 150 delegates from 83 agricultural organizations representing some 17,000 B.C. farmers are attending the convention to discuss problems facing the farming industry.

A total of 48 resolutions dealing with problems touching every phase of agriculture has been submitted to the meeting.

BASIC INDUSTRY

Dr. Blythe Eagles, dean of the faculty of agriculture of the University of British Columbia, who opened the meeting, told the delegates that "agriculture is a basic B.C. industry which profoundly affects not only the regional but the provincial and national welfare."

The fabric of farming in B.C., he said, was varied, intricate and it was difficult to establish an over-all pattern or design.

He said the agriculture of each area of the province should be based on a long-term concept designed to meet changing economic crises and to contribute to the rapidly industrialization over-all economy.

EDUCATION NEEDED

"We must adapt our agriculture to play its role as a part of a very dynamic, highly technical, rapidly changing economy," he said.

He advocated a greater integration of farm supply, farm producing and food processing.

"We shall also have to pay more attention to the integration and management of our resources," he added. "We shall have to put more emphasis on the education of highly skilled farmers."

Police Arrest Suspect Minutes After Holdup

Father of Five Faces Armed Robbery Charge

A 34-year-old father of five children was arrested and charged with the armed holdup of a Douglas Street all-night service station within 20 minutes of the stick-up at 4.20 a.m. today.

Earl Willard Fletcher, 620 Huxley, who is a service station attendant, was scheduled to be formally charged in regular sitting of Saanich police court this afternoon, police said.

The suspect, who lives in Saanich only four blocks from De Jong's Shell Service, 3393 Douglas, was arrested as he stepped into his car, parked at Falmouth, a half mile up

Saanich road from the robbed station.

Police recovered $45 in bills and a loaded .303 British service rifle, with one cartridge in the breach.

Forty-four-year-old attendant Roy Jarvis, 631 Superior, was taken by surprise when the robber stepped into the office of the deserted station with a head scarf or bandana tied over his nose and mouth, a rifle pointed at the attendant's chest.

'Trembling More Now Than Then'

"Boy, you look down the barrel of a rifle—that scared me," Jarvis said this morning.

"I watched his eyes. It was about 4.20 in the morning and everything looks exaggerated at that time. His eyes sure looked big. I think I'm trembling more now than I did then."

It was the area's second service station holdup in a month. All Star Texaco Service, 1647 Fort, was robbed of $178 on Nov. 3 by a masked man.

Jarvis said he was sitting at an office desk watching a taxi that had pulled up in an unusual place on the lot of Parkdale Service Garage, 3415 Douglas, on the opposite side of Saanich Road.

He crouched down to see it more clearly beneath some window panes, especially interested because Parkdale had been robbed of about $2,000 worth of tools and equipment and a station wagon last summer. Jarvis was a key witness for the Crown when Stanley John Bullivant was convicted and jailed for the offence.

"He (the masked man) must have come from the other direction. I didn't see him but I heard the door open, and he was there. He stood there in the doorway with the door open and pointed the rifle."

"Break the phone," he said, and I yanked out the cord. "What do you want, money?" I asked him, and he said "Yes."

"I pulled open the drawer and I gave him the bills. He made me put the cash up on a display rack next to the desk and he asked me about cash at the gas pumps but I told him we didn't keep any there at night."

'Can Shoot You at 1,000 Yards'

"When I stood up he said, 'Don't move. Don't follow me. I can shoot you at 1,000 yards.' He went around the corner of the station and down the bank (to a vacant field covered with heavy growth and muddy in places)."

"I gave him about three minutes, then I turned out the station lights to attract the police and went to the pay station on the corner and called them."

"I sure give the Saanich police credit; they're fast. There were three cruisers up here within a few minutes."

Jarvis said the hold-up man wore a suit coat but no hat. He was fair and heavily built, taller than Jarvis, standing about five feet six or eight inches.

He took one $10 bill, three fives, six twos and eight $1 bills, police said.

Constables Richard Avison and Harry Coutie were given credit for the arrest, they said.

2 Acclamations For School Board Seats at Belmont

John S. Williams, Glen Lake, and Fred H. Boulter, Langford, were elected trustees of Sooke School District No. 62 by acclamation Monday for the Belmont area.

They were the only two nominees for the two vacant area seats.

There are two nominees for the one vacant trustee seat in the district's Milne's Landing area, Douglas Morris of Sooke, and L. S. Adcock, Sooke.

There were no nominations for the San Juan area of the school district. The government is expected to make an appointment.

Election will be Dec. 12 with polls open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

'Down the Sink' For $500,000

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow today said proposed rehabilitation and extension of City Hall would "just be pouring $500,000 down the sink."

The proposal was advanced by city engineer James Garnett as one of the alternatives in a report he was asked to make on what should be done to the building.

SELL FIRST

He said it would be cheaper than building a new City Hall but Ald. Edgelow said he was opposed to even discussing a new building until the present one is sold.

Ald. Edgelow, supported by Ald. Elmer McEwen, said the present building should be "fixed up as inexpensively as possible without doing any major rehabilitation."

Mr. Garnett said rehabilitation of the present building would cost $100,000 and new additions "several times this."

"In many respects, the city hall fails to meet the minimum safety standards required in the No. 1 fire limits and for a publicly used building," his report said.

"This does not mean that there is any great likelihood of danger resulting from use of the building, but simply means that conditions such as these are recognized continent-wide as those that have resulted in major conflagrations and therefore should not be permitted."

He said the alternative to a complete rehabilitation is "to carry out all the necessary repairs needed to provide reasonable shelter and close our eyes to the problem of public safety."

The committee decided to refer his report to a special committee set up under Ald. Arthur Dowell for a thorough study of the city hall situation.

In the meantime, public works recommended that council authorize a $3,850 interior painting program.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Beacon Hill out for the day, St. Laurent returns Friday, 4 p.m.

Chiropodist's Last Will Invalid But Earlier Testament Accepted

The will that a woman chiropodist signed a month before her death was declared invalid in Vancouver Monday by Mr. Justice H. A. Maclean.

He ruled valid another will made June 27, 1957, by Mrs. Mary Hannah Filby, who died two years ago leaving a net estate of $64,000.

Mrs. Filby, who practised under her maiden name of Coupe, included in both wills bequests of $2,000 each to a son, David Filby of Sidney, and to a half-sister, Mrs. Edith Jones of Victoria. Bequests of $1,000 each were made to two half-sisters, Mrs. Elsie Pierce of Nanaimo, and Lucy Malden, Victoria, and three Vancouver men.

Acres at Mechosin is to be sold and the proceeds used eventually to house retarded children and elderly indigents at a motel and rooming-house also owned by Mrs. Filby.

The disputed portion of the wills concerned the rooming-house and motel. A life interest in the rooming-house was left to John Mitchell Patrick, 18, son of Mrs. Filby's executor, William Stanley Patrick, on condition that Mrs. Filby's half-brother, A. H. Hetherington, have a home for life.

A life interest in the motel was left to Mrs. Grace White, the motel manager. The invalidated will would have given young Patrick sole life interest in the rooming-house and directed the executor to pay Mrs. White and Hetherington an allowance to live at the motel.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A careful burglar took $25 in silver from a cash drawer at Golden Galleon Cafe, 2239 Oak Bay, Monday night, without disturbing a sub post office and magazine section on the premises.

An Oak Bay police patrol discovered the break-in by way of a rear door at about 7.30 a.m. today.

Police suspect the burglar may have used a 1948 model Dodge painted blue.

Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, head of the Unitarian Service Committee, will address the Victoria Unitarian Fellowship, Wednesday, at 8 p.m., at 1075 Joan Crescent.

Jack G. Wells, 3830 Palo Alto, was fined $50 and his driver's licence was suspended in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to careless driving.

Police said Wells raced another car on Douglas Street at 3.20 a.m., going through three red lights without stopping.

After hearing Wells' previous driving record, Magistrate William Ostler suspended his licence for one month.

ASK THE TIMES

Chic Berets From Paris Thrill Feminine Hearts!

By PENNY SAVER

Berets are high style this year! Practically every teenager I know would love one of the chic angora berets I saw today. Straight from Paris, berets are lined in silk and have grain headbands and tiny gilt buckle. You can take your choice of yellow, beige, avocado and Wedgewood blue. Berets are priced at $2.95.

Another beret that's destined to draw raves from the younger set is an import in loop-stitch wool. Elasticized thread through band ensures comfy fitting. These are selling at $3 and come in white, scarlet and turquoise.

Even key rings can be glamorous! Some I've seen would add an elegant, as well as orderly, touch to any woman's handbag. Gold finished rings have most intriguing charms dangling on other end of their fine chains.

Some have ornamental vials others are rich with large ruby red and emerald green stones set in ornate filigree. There are also rings that sport plastic blocks containing realistic pine cones or four-leafed clovers. All come at $2 each.

For a friend that loves to entertain there could be no nicer gift than the hot roll cover I've seen today.

These are made of fine, fine, Irish linen with exquisite embroidery in rose pattern. Covers cost $1.95.

Talking of fine linen, men always appreciate snowy-white handkerchiefs in the Christmas stockings. Real buy are ones I've seen selling three for $1. Good suggestion to keep in mind when the children go shopping for Daddy!

Delicately hand-rolled edges and embroidered initial on linen ladies' handkerchiefs make ones I saw something that every woman could use and her children could afford out of their pocket money. There are two prices, 60 cents and 75 cents.

For names of stores where these can be found phone Penny at EV 2-3131.

Instead of Rushing From Job to Job Try Resting

It seems unfortunate that the time when the family gathers, in the late afternoon, is the time when friction is most apt to develop. It is the end of a long, busy day for everyone, yet each individual demands immediate attention from the others. If father were allowed to go to his room and rest and read for a half hour before hearing about the doings of the day or having to decide any questions or solve any problems, the evening meal would be much more pleasant for him and for everyone else.

If mother could organize her day so that she has a nap or rest during the day, she would meet the evening in a much more charming mood. Many women rush from the time they get up in the morning until they sit down at the dinner table at night. This is certain to place a strain on their nerves and dispositions.

If the son and daughter would wait, whenever possible, until after dinner to bring up questions, it would add to the family fun together at meal time. If some decision has to be made sooner than that, it usually can wait at least a half hour after arrival at home.

The busiest housewife can take 10 or 15 minutes at lunch time for a little lie-down, and there is nothing so relaxing as a warm bath in the late afternoon before dressing for the evening. This can change one's whole outlook and bring good humor into play again as tension drops away.

The evening meal is the only time during the day when there is leisure enough to enjoy one another. Why not take advantage of it?

DEAR ABBY: I married a lucky to be a bride of five widower and you can imagine months.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of four children. Our eldest is retarded. When our suspicions were confirmed, our hearts were broken. But we have accepted the fact and are learning to live with it.

My mother-in-law has never accepted the fact, and is constantly trying to talk my husband and me into putting the child in an institution. I'd die first.

My mother-in-law showers our other children with gifts, but she has never given Billy anything. She says, "He can't appreciate anything." When she visits us (which is almost daily) she asks me to send Billy out of the room as she says it "makes her sick" to look at him. She treats him like an animal.

I can't tell my husband's mother she is not welcome in my home. But I can't stand it much longer. Can you advise me, please?

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Your husband can and should tell his mother that she must treat Billy like the other children or she can stay home. What kind of father is your husband to permit his child to be treated "like an animal"?

TODAY'S RECIPE

PEAR CRUMB CAKE

One and a half cups graham cracker crumbs, ¼ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons butter, or margarine, 1 pkg (8 oz.) cream cheese, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 eggs, 1 cup teaspoon vanilla, 1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) pear halves, tart red jelly.

Mix crumbs, 2 tablespoons of the sugar and melted butter; set aside 2 tablespoons of the mixture. Press remaining crumbs evenly over bottom and sides of a 9 or 10-inch pie pan. With softened cream cheese blend ½ cup of the sugar, lemon rind and juice. Add eggs, one at a time, beating with a rotary beater until smooth. Carefully pour into crumb crust. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) 45 minutes. Mix sour cream, remaining 2 tablespoons of the sugar and vanilla; spread over cream cheese layer. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Arrange drained pears, cut side up, in sour cream. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) about 15 minutes. Cool and then chill. Fill centre of each pear with jelly. Six to seven servings. NOTE: If you wish to serve the cake at table, make it in a 9-inch removable bottom layer cake pan.

Women Shy Away From First Step In Politics

OTTAWA (CP) — Women's apathy and reluctance to grasp opportunities is a major stumbling block in their entry into politics, Citizenship Minister Ellen Fairclough thinks.

Addressing some 400 members of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association, Canada's first woman federal cabinet minister added that she was not advocating that every woman grab a soap box and leave her family for political pursuits.

"I do feel, however, that especially in the field of municipal politics there is a place for more and more women," Mrs. Fairclough said.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Visitors to See Government House

Members of the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors, who are holding their annual general meeting in Victoria, and their wives, will be received at Government House by Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross this Saturday morning. Lt. Cmdr. John Wade will be in attendance.

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Ross will open the annual bazaar of the Victoria Chapter, No. 25, Women of the Moose, in the Moose Hall on Fort Street. Miss Ruth MacLean will accompany Mrs. Ross.

Wednesday evening at 9.30 p.m., Mrs. Ross will present the prizes to display winners in the Festival of Christmas Decorations in the Georgian Room at the Empress Hotel. Festival opens at 12 noon and continues until after the prize-giving.

"You never know" the woman who takes an interest in the affairs of her community today may find herself in parliament tomorrow," she said.

She said the fewer numbers of women in federal and provincial legislatures is in part due to the distance from home such posts entail.

Few women also were in top posts in other fields. Only two women were top-ranking union executives, despite the large number of women employed in industry, and few women were directors of Canadian companies, although a large number of women are shareholders.

Climate Influences Color Choice In Home Decorating, Expert Says

TORONTO (CP) — One of the nicest things about Canadian homes is the open fireplace "which people really use," says Margit Bennett. She is the decorating editor of a monthly magazine and in her travels across Canada she has developed a theory that the climate influences the color atmosphere of various areas.

"The Martimes, with greyish weather, are conservative with color," she says. "The Prairies and Quebec burst into color because they both get a lot of snow and sunshine. It's not unusual to see turquoise or chartreuse on the Prairies."

"Vancouver has the soft shades again. Ontario is a nice medium because of its mixed climate. Ontario is more restrained than the West, but less conservative than the Maritimes."

A strong accent color can do wonders for a room, but it used too sparingly it's ineffective.

Langford Auxiliary Makes $187

Mrs. H. F. Jarvis, South Vancouver Island representative to the Provincial Council, officiated at opening ceremony of the annual bazaar arranged by the Women's Auxiliary, Prince Edward Branch, No. 91, Canadian Legion. She was introduced by auxiliary president, Mrs. N. Goodwin and presented with a cut glass vase.

A bazaar, held in the Legion Hall at Langford, realized $187. Convener was Mrs. E. Cook. Afternoon tea was in charge of Mrs. V. McTavish, Mrs. M. Guttormsen, Mrs. L. Monahan and Mrs. M. Furstenberg. Mrs. M. Douglas took the tickets.

Stall conveners were as follows: Home cooking and jam, Mrs. O. Jameson and Mrs. Rawcliffe; candy, Mrs. G. Sturgeon; sewing, Mrs. F. Burbury; and Mrs. R. Harris; Christmas cards, Mrs. D. Richards; fish pond, Mrs. C. Reid; pop and popcorn, Ray Harris; white elephant, Mrs. J. Dale and Mrs. K. Laird; contests, Mrs. B. Jenkins.

Mrs. Quart Named Head PC Women

OTTAWA (UPI) — Mrs. Harry S. Quart of Sillery, Que., today was elected president of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association of Canada.

Mrs. Quart, president of the Quebec women's group, was named to succeed Miss Elizabeth Jansen of Kitchener, Ont., at the association's annual meeting at the Chateau Laurier Hotel.

Accentuate the Feminine-Slogan For Spring Fashion Silhouette

NEW YORK (AP) — As more than 3,000 dress, suit and coat manufacturers watched spring showings, in New York recently it became evident that fashions of 1960 will accentuate the feminine.

Natural curves, soft lines, featherlight fabrics and a lady-like look are highlights of the new spring fashions. Women will look like women, in flattering clothes that avoids the grotesque, the bizarre and the shocking.

New shoulder width is the most pronounced general trend in the spring silhouette. This is achieved in many ways — by wide cape collars, wide sleeves, deep armholes, kimono and dolman cuts. With the width at the top, the slender skirt is prescribed by most designers for daytime wear. But skirts are likely to have soft fullness at the top to give hip room, tapering toward the hemline.

For cocktail and evening wear, plenty of full skirts will be available. But the smartest formal silhouette is the long, slinky one, often shown with long sleeves and daring neckline with soft figure-revealing drapery.

LONG JACKETS

The suits that will shine in the Easter parade of 1960 will have longer jackets, often finger-tip length, semi-fitted or box style, with slim skirts. There are many variations of the boxy suit, but in most cases, the jacket is slightly longer than previously.

Leading colors for spring will be black and white, pale beige and gray tones and, of course, navy. After the bright colors of winter fashions, the tendency is to go neutral next spring. Black and white checks, stripes, herringbones and prints will be present in force, as will white cool coats with black accessories.

The general picture of spring fashions for 1960 is one which should encourage women to look their best, in feminine, flattering clothes carefully geared to suit their busy lives.

Fashion is tagged by decades. We have had the roaring 20s, the depressed 30s, the militant 40s, the fabulous 50s — and now come the sexy 60s.

THE CORPORATION OF THE DISTRICT OF SAANICH

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE is hereby given that all persons who deem themselves affected by the provisions of the proposed "Zoning By-Law, 1959, No. 12," of the Corporation of the District of Saanich, will be afforded an opportunity to be heard on the matters contained therein, before the Municipal Council at a Public Hearing to be held at the Council Chamber, Municipal Hall, Royal Oak, on MONDAY, December 7, 1959, at 7.30 p.m.

A copy of the proposed by-law may be inspected at the Municipal Hall, Royal Oak, between the hours of 10 o'clock a.m. and five o'clock p.m. on any weekday except Saturday.

The above amendments will have the effect of rezoning the following properties to increase the minimum floor area requirements for single family dwellings in the following areas:

(a) Coastal Area I - from Mt. Douglas Park to Highway 100

(b) Coastal Area II - bounded by Westridge Drive, Perforated Road, Shure Way, Westridge Road, Arbutus Road and Hollydene Place.

(c) All present farming areas (Zone 1).

It is also proposed to increase some of the property line setbacks and to restrict the number of dwellings which may be erected on any one parcel of land in Area (a) and (b) above.

G. HAYWARD, Municipal Clerk.

NOTICE OF PRIVATE BILLS

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to Standing Orders, no Petition for any Private Bill shall be received by the House of Commons after the 5th day of February, 1960.

Dated November 23, 1959.

GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS COMOX ELECTORAL DISTRICT BRIDGE

COURTNEY RIVER BRIDGE ISLAND HIGHWAY

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed tenders, marked "Tender for Project No. 202 - Courtney River Bridge," will be received by the Minister of Highways in his office at the Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., up to 2.00 p.m. (Pacific Standard Time) on Friday the 18th day of December, 1959, and opened in public at that time and date.

Plans, specifications and conditions of tender may be obtained from the Department of Highways, 625 Burrard Street, Vancouver 1, B.C., or from the undersigned for the sum of two dollars ($2.00) which is not refundable.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque or a bid bond in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the tender price. This cheque or bond shall be forfeited if the tenderer declines to enter into contract. If a bid bond is used, a performance bond in the amount of one hundred per cent (100%) of the tendered sum, in a form acceptable to the Minister of Finance, must then be provided by the successful bidder prior to the award of the contract. If a deposit cheque is used it shall be retained and forfeited if the contractor fails to carry out the work contracted.

Tenders must be made out in the forms supplied and enclosed in the envelope furnished.

Tenderers must submit with their tenders a list stating the type, capacity, and present location of that inspection can be made if necessary, of the equipment in their possession or at their disposal which is immediately available for the carrying out of the work within the time limit specified in the specifications.

No tender will be accepted or considered which contains an escalation clause or any other provision which may be under contract at this date.

Hotel Operations Shown to Students

A big hotel is like an independent community supplying its own needs and services, Cyril Chapman, manager of the Empress Hotel, told a party of 12 Victoria high school students who toured the premises Saturday.

The students, ranging in age from 14 to 18 years, were shown every branch of hotel work from the kitchens to the banquet rooms and the upper floors. Many are contemplating careers in the hotel industry.

Mr. Chapman told the students there are excellent opportunities in this field, with rapid advancement for qualified employees.

"But," he said, "you have to start at the bottom and work up."

Mr. Chapman said he hopes to work out a monthly hotel tour program for students who are interested in this work.

Death Sought for American

HAVANA (AP)—A military tribunal today ended an 18-hour trial of two Americans and 37 Cubans accused of conspiring to overthrow Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime. Wednesday.

The prosecution demanded the firing squad for Frank Austin Young, a 38-year-old commercial pilot who was born in Indianapolis, Ind., and makes his home in Miami, Fla., and Fernando Pruno Bertot, 24-year-old Cuban and former student at Columbia University in New York.

Thirty-three prison sentences were sought against the other defendants, including Peter John Lambton, 24, a British-born naturalized American of Nassau, Bahamas.

THOUSANDS OF KOREAN CRIPPLED CHILDREN DESPERATELY NEED HELP

The War Is Over, the Scars Remain

Times readers starting Thursday will have the opportunity to throw their weight behind construction of a rehabilitation centre for war-injured children in Seoul, Korea.

It will be the Times' seventh annual appeal on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee which has accomplished such tremendous work in underprivileged areas of the world.

The appeal starts Thursday when Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, head of the USC drive, speaks in Oak Bay Junior High School on the need for aid to children in Asiatic countries.

Doors will be open at 7.15 and the talk, entitled "The Magic Key," will start at 8 p.m. A film, "Step

By Step," taken by Dr. Hirschmanova in Korea and India, will show conditions in these places "as the relief worker sees them, not glamorized."

No admission will be charged, but a silver collection will be taken, instituting the campaign which in past years has raised nearly $60,000 from generous Victorians who have contributed to the USC fund through the Times.

Cost of the Sam Yook rehabilitation centre, as it is called, will be $15,000, which includes building and facilities to accommodate 140 war-blinded children.

It is part of the over-all USC campaign this year to raise $250,000, which will go towards maintenance and development of 62 USC projects in 11 countries.

The USC conducts an incredibly diversified aid program, ranging from keeping starving children alive to community development schemes.

Core of the continuing project is to make these needy people self-supporting in the manner common to the West, but new to them.

"It's a self-help aim," the doctor said.

In the 15 years the USC has worked in this direction, $1,500,000 has been raised; 8,500,000 pounds of relief supplies distributed; 5,000 children helped "under our roofs" and two entire villages rebuilt. Schools and hospitals also have been established.

"Apart from these things, it is the friendship we show, the concern we evidence, that is the main point in all these undertakings," Dr. Hirschmanova said.

It builds a bridge of love and understanding surmounting by far anything that can be accomplished by politics.

For this reason "there is more and more support coming our way," said the doctor.

One of the largest current projects is building of a 70-bed $50,000 hospital for tubercular children in Mokpo, at the tip of southern India.

NATION WINS IN PEACE WHAT IT LOST IN WAR

This is the second in a series of articles by the editor of the Times after a visit to Japan at the invitation of that country's government.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
By a typical paradox of its tumultuous history Japan has suddenly realized in peace the great over-all plan vainly attempted in war.

When it devised the Co-Prosperity Sphere of East Asia and undertook to enforce it by conquest, the result was ruin. But within 44 years of that catastrophic international trade has created an economic empire and new sphere of unprecedented prosperity that gives Japan the highest living standard ever known in Asia, and riches the life of its neighbors and now is providing a major market for Canada.

In this revolution, both economic and political, the primary fact is obvious and little noticed: The military dictatorship of the pre-war and war years tried to make the Japanese islands a continental state by absorbing the Asiatic mainland, whence their civilization came in the beginning.

Purely Maritime

The present democratic system has abandoned continentalism entirely, has created a purely maritime nation, is making Japan the Britain of the Pacific and is constructing the central workshop of Asia, where it takes the world's raw materials and converts them into manufactured goods. This whole process is based on trade.

The anatomy of Japan's trade—small by North American standards but gigantic by the standards of Asia—can be stated in a few figures.

Last year Japanese exports, visible and invisible, were worth $3.6 billions and imports $3 billions. This year exports should reach $4.2 billions and imports $3.5 billions.

This is a far cry from the days, only six years ago, when the United States paid for half of Japan's imports, or $500 millions annually, by the expenditure of dollars on American military forces in Japan and other forms of aid, now no longer needed.

By a continuing favorable trade balance Japan has piled up hard currency reserves of $1.2 billions this year and

'Stalin Fever' Caused Revolt

VIENNA (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today blamed the 1956 Hungarian revolution on his own abrupt denunciation of Stalinism and the Stalinist "cult of personality" at the 20th Soviet Communist Party congress in Moscow earlier that year.

"Following the 20th congress of the Communist party of the Soviet Union," Khrushchev told a Hungarian party congress in Budapest today, "certain difficulties—something of a fever—were experienced by some parties, including our party."

He said the Soviet Communists were so strong they weathered the differences the denunciation brought although there was criticism that the abruptness of the break with Josef Stalin caused complications in other Communist countries.

But Khrushchev said "it had to be done... it was necessary to get cleaned and to throw off all the accumulated extraneous matter."

In Hungary, he said, the problem of class struggle raised by the break with the past took the form of an armed clash. But now, he said, the Socialist countries are so strong they are "invincible."

Khrushchev gave his full backing to the Communist puppet regime in Hungary and in a review of world affairs renewed his protests against continued allied occupation of West Germany.

Railways Ask More Grain Rate Revenue

OTTAWA—Canada's major railroads will ask for increases of 100 and 125 per cent in the Crows Nest Pass grain rates before a royal commission on transportation Friday.

But both lines, the CPR and CNR, will propose plans that, although providing them with greater revenues, will not increase rates actually paid by western grain farmers.

The CNR, it was learned today, will seek a 125 per cent increase in the Crows Nest rates. It will ask that parliament make a grant covering the difference between the existing rates and the proposed rates.

The CNR will tell the MacTague royal commission that such a grant should be based on an estimate to be made each year by the board of transport commissioners on the amount of additional income the railway would earn each year under a 125 per cent increase.

Canada's other major railroad, the CPR, will ask for a 100 per cent increase in Crows Nest rates, but, as a private company, it is seeking to avoid a government subsidy.

A straight subsidy could involve the company in a continual battle with the House of Commons.

The CPR instead will ask for taxation changes so that the additional revenue it would obtain if farmers paid the increase of 100 per cent would be added to the firm's taxable

MANITOBA PROBE

Private School Grants Proposed

WINNIPEG (CP)—Government financial help for private and parochial schools in Manitoba was recommended today in the report of a Royal Commission on Education.

The commission said in a unanimous recommendation that help could be given to such schools, where they provide a satisfactory standard of education, without injury to "the public school system, to unity or to religious toleration."

"Indeed, it may benefit and give more worth to all these. In any case, practical application of the principles of democracy by which we try to live requires that whenever possible the majority be tolerant enough to provide for significant minorities the kind of education they want for their children."

The commission said there should be "no more regulation of these schools than is necessary to ensure that the education afforded in them is up to the general standard of the public schools."

Revival of the question of aid to parochial schools in Manitoba recalled a stormy period in the past of the province. It had separate Protestant and Roman Catholic school systems before 1890, with each group paying the costs of its own schools.

The provincial government wiped out the distinction in 1890 and set up a system of public schools in which there was no religious difference. "After a court and intergov-ernment battle, in which the federal Conservative government backed the minority, the school question was fought in the 1896 general election and the Conservatives were defeated.

The Laurier government that followed compromised. Some religious teaching was allowed in schools. Under the compromise, still in existence, religious groups run their own schools at their own cost but

One Survivor As Airliner Crashes Peak

BRITISH LINER FREED FROM STORMY SHORE

GIBRALTAR (Reuters)—Tugs today succeeded in refloating the British liner Braemar Castle after gale-lashed seas drove the 17,029-ton vessel aground near Gibraltar Monday night.

With improved weather three British Admiralty tugs helped free the London-bound liner which was carrying 300 passengers.

24 Die Rescue Fails

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI)—A Philadelphia-to-Cleveland Allegheny Airlines plane crashed into South Williamsport Mountain while making a landing approach today, killing all but one of the 25 persons aboard.

The sole survivor was thrown clear of the wreckage and into a tree. He was identified as Louis Matarazzo, of Springfield, Pa. He was in serious condition in Divine Providence Hospital here.

Two other persons were removed alive from the flaming wreckage but died later while being taken to hospital. The plane was still burning several hours after the crash.

SNOW AND FOG

A driving snow fell intermittently during the day but had stopped when the plane circled away from the Williamsport-Montoursville airport to make a second landing approach. Airport officials said a heavy fog covered the area.

The plane, a twin-engined Martin 202, apparently circled to the south and crashed halfway up the 2,500-foot mountain. Normal procedure is to circle north away from the mountain which lies just across the Susquehanna River from the airport.

ROAD BLOCKED

Two of the survivors were lowered down a 500-foot embankment to a railroad line running along the base of the mountain. A Pennsylvania Railroad yard engine with a baggage car attached then took them to a railroad crossing where they were transferred to ambulances.

A helicopter, from the Olmsted air force base at Middletown, Pa., was the only vehicle able to reach the scene until several hours after the crash.

Action Asked On Food Costs

Provincial government action to reduce food costs in line with proposals released Monday by a federal royal commission on price spreads, was urged today by Liberal and CCF spokesmen.

Two Social Credit cabinet ministers had other views.

Trade Minister Robert Bonner said B.C. should wait until the report has had full study before taking any steps.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, who formerly held the agriculture portfolio, felt advertising and packaging costs are here to stay.

He did not see how the provincial government could aid the consumer, but the farm producer could help himself by doing more of his own marketing through producer organizations.

REACTIONS VARY

The varied reactions followed a federal probe into the price spread between what the producer gets for his food item, and what the consumer pays.

The two-year study condemned contests, giveaways and gimmicks and all other modern merchandising high spending on promotion.

Russia Ahead On Missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy conceded today that Russia may have superior numbers of intercontinental missiles in the early 1960s. He said he has ordered preparations for an American airborne bomber alert to make up for the "gap."

The retiring secretary (see page 3) told a "swansong" news conference that the military budget going to Congress in January includes money for the Strategic Air Command to practice a continuous airborne alert and to stockpile engines and other critical spare parts.

Asked if a "missile gap" is a foregone conclusion, the secretary said "I don't say there will be. But there can be."

"If Russia builds what it could and we build what we intend, they will have more missile capability for the period of 1961, 1962 and maybe 1963 then we will have," McElroy said.

IKE'S APPLAUSE 'RIGGED' ON FILM OF EUROPE VISIT

NEW YORK (AP)—Two American networks say their technicians in New York dubbed in some of the crowd noises heard in television coverage of President Eisenhower's recent trip to Europe.

The American Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System acknowledged Monday night that in a few instances recorded crowd noises were used where the real sounds were either lacking or failed to fit in with other film.

The National Broadcasting Company said it used only the sound which actually accompanied the president during his travels.

An ABC spokesman explained: "When Eisenhower was travelling into Bonn from the airport by car, we had only a man with a hand-held camera riding in a truck to cover him, where before we had natural sounds of the crowd. You obviously can't suddenly go into dead silence... so perhaps a little music."

"We never would insert applause if people were sitting on their hands... we used only appropriate sound."

Sig Mickelson, president of the CBS news division, issued a memorandum on pre-recorded sound effects in news programs, in which he said:

"In general, the use of pre-recorded sound effects should be avoided where natural sound, and such sound is purely incidental, having no bearing on the editorial content of a program; pre-recorded sound effects may be used where natural sound is lacking or where it is not clear from the context that the sound is purely incidental."

Meanwhile, CBS president Frank Stanton issued a warning to employees that anyone guilty of bribery or "payola" would be fired. Payola is the practice whereby records companies pay disc jockeys to plug records.

NBC announced the appointment of James A. Stabile, a lawyer, as vice-president in charge of standards and practices.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

For all Thy blessing which we can see and say: Thank You; for all blessings we are prone to take for granted; for blessings we do not recognize as blessings, we lift our hearts in grateful praise to the God Who can make triumph out of tragedy, good out of ill, and glory out of the commonplace. In His name we pray, Amen.

Lookin' at his wife, m' Uncle Zeke sez prices ain't th' only thing that git spread in th' food bizness.

See they bin riggin' cheers fer Ike. Bet they won't hev 'n' rig any boos fer th' TV promoters.

We may not be their Seoul support, but we-kin help.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrial Issues Active at New York

Featured by a near-six point jump by the industrial average at mid-day the New York stock market held most of its early gain in late-afternoon trading.

Steels and chemicals gained 1 to 2 points or more. Ralls were irregularly higher, while oils, airlines, tobaccos, rubbers and selected aircrafts moved ahead.

The Toronto market continued its downward trend under relatively heavy trading.

AT TORONTO Canadian general investment gained 3/4 at 33 1/2 as did Canadian iron foundries, at 2 1/2 to lead industrial winners.

Cockshutt continued to be the biggest industrial loser with a drop of 1 1/2 at 19 1/2. Mines were strangely quiet and even the lower-priced issues were not recording any great turnover. International Nickel led the way among senior issues gaining 1/4 at 99 1/2.

AT NEW YORK McIntyre Porcupine rose 1/2. International Nickel 1/2, Hudson Bay Mining 1/2 and Canadian Pacific 1/2, while Aluminum Ltd. lost 1/4 and Walker Gooderham 1/2.

On the American stock exchange, Canadian Marconi and Scurry Rainbow Oil, both gained 1/2, and Fargo Oil and Jupiter Oil both were up 1/16.

AT VANCOUVER The market was fairly active with prices mixed during the forenoon. Canam Copper traded 8,000 at 13. Silbac moved 7,000 at 10. American Standard sold 3,000 at 9 cents. Giant Masco moved 5,000 at 17. Barlone traded 600 at $4.90.

AT VANCOUVER (CP) — Directors of Peace River Power Development Co. Ltd. are meeting here this week to consider their presentation to the provincial government on the harnessing of the northern B.C. river.

Preliminary meetings began Monday with the principal sessions being held Wednesday and Thursday. The meetings are closed.

Several British directors are coming here for the meeting. Under a memorandum of intention signed with the B.C. government two years ago, the company, whose controlling interest is held by Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Ltd., must submit its report to the B.C. government before Dec. 31.

Several weeks ago, the company announced that its report will show it is ready to go ahead with a $600,000,000 hydro development on the Peace, providing government approval is given.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market was firmer and more active most of the time today.

Buying appeared to represent short covering along with a light and scattered commercial demand, mainly for corn.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included Pakistan 680,000 bushels; Belgium 240,000; United Kingdom 185,000, and The Netherlands 40,000.

Class two, TWA and domestic wheat prices, basis Lakehead, all were 1/2 higher.

AT MONTREAL papers continued to slip fractionally while other sections remained mixed in moderate trading today on the stock exchange.

AT VANCOUVER the market was fairly active with prices mixed during the forenoon. Canam Copper traded 8,000 at 13. Silbac moved 7,000 at 10. American Standard sold 3,000 at 9 cents. Giant Masco moved 5,000 at 17. Barlone traded 600 at $4.90.

Light Up Tonight for 'Porchlight Brigade'

Annual Kiwanis porchlight campaign for funds to develop senior citizen housing is scheduled tonight at 6.30.

Target for some 1,500 canvassers is $30,000. It will go into a building fund for a 38-cottage Kiwanis Villa. Provincial grants also are sought for the $500,000 project.

"We are asking the people of Greater Victoria to be generous in their contributions tonight and to leave their porchlights on as a guide to our canvassers," said Reg Harris, campaign chairman.

"We know there are a great many fund-raising campaigns but we ask the public to remember that contributions made tonight are of a lasting nature."

"A donation is a gift that never dies, because it goes into construction of cottages that are going to be used 24 hours a day for years to come."

Tonight's campaign is the seventh since the club launched Kiwanis Village which now contains 50 low-rent cottages for senior citizens.

HE REMEMBERS BACK WHEN...

Visit to B.C. Maritime Museum, Signal Hill, today brought back flood of memories for 88-year-old Robert Logan, North Vancouver, who was born in Dockyard residence on site of parade ground of HMCS Venture, navy cadet training establishment. His father was Royal Navy Armorer, and Mr. Logan served apprenticeship at Dockyard in days of sail before joining navy. For last 38 years before retiring, he was with Burrard Dry Dock. He holds model of Yankee clipper ship. (Times Photo.)

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Raise your teacups in the Empress Hotel lounge this afternoon.

Maestro Billy Tickle is celebrating his 31st anniversary as purveyor of the light tea and crumpet music which has made the Empress famous.

He sounded his first crotchet there in December, 1928, after many years of making music for the movies. He led the orchestra under the screen at the old Pantages Theatre and recalls augmenting it to 30 players for the silent classic Birth of a Nation way back in 1922.

Which reminds me of that civil defence conference held in the Empress recently. Dr. Gordon Shrum of UBC invited discussion on the maintenance of food supplies in the event of a nuclear attack.

Discussion was interrupted by the chairman, who said: "Excuse me, gentlemen, but I'm told if we don't have our tea break now we won't get any."

Teaching youngsters to sing carols is fun. A four-year-old came out with: "Good King Wench-less got knocked out, 'In the feast of Stephen."

When popular sightseer Rebel Mowat entered St. Joseph's Hospital recently, he joked: "They're going to put me to sleep for a while—like Rip Van Winkle."

However, I'm glad to say Rebel is making good progress after treatment for a skin ailment. And I'll wager he keeps the nurses laughing.

Whimsicalities: I hear that a London bookshop is resisting sensitive customers by supplying copies of the "Lolita" in the dust jacket of Lord Woolton's Memoirs.

Another firm is trying to boost sales of His Lordship's laborious reminiscences by selling them in the dust jacket of Lolita.

Fluoride Foes Challenge City Doctors

An anti-fluoridation Seattle medical man today challenged three leading Greater Victoria fluoridation proponents—two medical practitioners and a dentist—to a public debate.

Dr. F. E. Exner, a radiologist, issued the challenge through Mrs. Lydia Arsen, president of the Victoria branch, National Health Federation.

He aimed his attack at Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, Victoria-Esquamalt medical health officer, Dr. Hugh Borsman, city medical practitioner, and Dr. W. W. McLaughlin, city dentist, all of whom have been speaking strongly in favor of fluoridation of Greater Victoria drinking water.

Dr. Exner, together with Dr. Arthur McWhinnie, a Seattle dentist, spoke here recently knocking fluoridation.

ASKS PROOF

Dr. Exner said he wanted "proof" of research, done on fluoridation as offered by the Victoria men, "where, when, and by whom."

Arrangements will be made for the public debate, said Mrs. Arsen, if it is picked up by any one of the three fluoridation backers here.

Big Industries Gaining Control

A warning that independent farmers in B.C. and elsewhere in Canada will pass out of existence unless they take steps to preserve their economic independence, was made today by H. D. Arnold of Duncan, president of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

Mr. Arnold, addressing the opening session of the Federation's annual two-day convention at the Empress Hotel, noted that more and more farms in the province were falling under the control of large industries.

SHARP DECLINE

"Between 1949 and 1959 there was a decline of 29 per cent in the number of self-employed farmers in Canada, and there is no doubt that B.C. shared fully in this decline," he said. "The question now so commonly asked is 'can the independent farmer survive?'"

Mr. Arnold felt that he could, providing there was "organized farmer action."

He said this could be achieved through co-operative marketing and processing programs.

In addition, he said, independent farmers should work to develop means of controlling their products through every phase of their production.

17,000 REPRESENTED

"To preserve our independence it also will be necessary to use every organization we have, and every weapon which the law allows," he said. "In particular, more use will have to be made of marketing legislation and co-operative marketing of the most effective kind."

More than 150 delegates from 83 agricultural organizations representing some 17,000 B.C. farmers are attending the convention to discuss problems facing the farming industry.

A total of 48 resolutions dealing with problems touching every phase of agriculture have been submitted to the meeting.

BASIC INDUSTRY

Dr. Blythe Eagles, dean of the faculty of agriculture of the University of British Columbia, who opened the meeting, told the delegates that "agriculture is a basic B.C. industry which profoundly affects not only the regional but the provincial and national welfare."

The fabric of farming in B.C., he said, was varied, intricate and it was difficult to establish an over-all pattern or design.

He said the agriculture of each area of the province should be based on a long-term concept designed to meet changing economic crises and to contribute to the rapidly industrialization over-all economy," he said.

He advocated a greater integration of farm supply, farm producing and food processing.

"We shall also have to pay more attention to the integration and management of our resources," he added. "We shall have to put more emphasis on the education of highly skilled farmers."

Police Arrest Suspect Minutes After Holdup

Father of Five Faces Armed Robbery Charge

A 34-year-old father of five children was arrested and charged with the armed holdup of a Douglas Street all-night service station within 20 minutes of the stick-up at 4.20 a.m. today.

Earl Willard Fletcher, 620 Huxley, who is a service station attendant, was scheduled to be formally charged in regular sitting of Saanich police court this afternoon, police said.

The suspect, who lives in Saanich only four blocks from De Jong's Shell Service, 3393 Douglas, was arrested as he stepped into his car, parked at Falmouth, a half mile up

Saanich road from the robbed station.

Police recovered $45 in bills and a loaded .303 British service rifle, with one cartridge in the breach.

Forty-four-year-old attendant Roy Jarvis, 631 Superior, was taken by surprise when the robber stepped into the office of the deserted station with a head scarf or bandana tied over his nose and mouth, a rifle pointed at the attendant's chest.

'Trembling More Now Than Then'

"Boy, you look down the barrel of a rifle—that scared me," Jarvis said this morning.

"I watched his eyes. It was about 4.20 in the morning and everything looks exaggerated at that time. His eyes sure looked big. I think I'm trembling more now than I did then."

It was the area's second service station holdup in a month. All Star Texaco Service, 1647 Fort, was robbed of $178 on Nov. 3 by a masked man.

Jarvis said he was sitting at an office desk watching a taxi that had pulled up in an unusual place on the lot of Parkdale Service Garage, 3415 Douglas, on the opposite side of Saanich Road.

He crouched down to see it more clearly beneath some window posters, especially in terested because Parkdale had been robbed of about $2,000 worth of tools and equipment and a station wagon last summer.

"He (the masked man) must have come from the other direction. I didn't see him but I heard the door open, and he was there. He stood there in the doorway with the door open and pointed the rifle."

"Break the phone," he said, and I yanked out the cord. "What do you want, money?" I asked him, and he said "Yes."

"I pulled open the drawer and I gave him the bills. "He made me put the cash up on a display rack next to the desk and he asked me about cash at the gas pumps but I told him we didn't keep any there at night."

'Can Shoot You at 1,000 Yards'

"When I stood up he said, 'Don't move. Don't follow me. I can shoot you at 1,000 yards.' He went around the corner of the station and down the bank (to a vacant field covered with heavy growth and muddy in places).

"I gave him about three minutes, then I turned out the station lights to attract the police and went to the pay station on the corner and called them."

"I sure give the Saanich police credit; they're fast. There were three cruisers up here within a few minutes." Jarvis said the hold-up man wore a suit coat but no hat. He was fair and heavily built, taller than Jarvis, standing about five feet six or eight inches.

He took one $10 bill, three fives, six twos and eight $1 bills, police said.

Constables Richard Aislin and Harry Coutie were given credit for the arrest. They were speeding to the scene of the holdup along Saanich Road when they saw the dome light of a parked car go on and stopped to investigate.

Det. George Walton and Det. Sgt. Robin Stewart took over the case from them.

Jarvis, who came to Victoria from Toronto in April, 1958, was formerly a lumber yard worker and has been employed at the service station five months.

"Nothing like this ever happened to me in Toronto," Jarvis said.

"The police told me I did the right thing and I said 'Why?' That gun was loaded," he said.

Campaign Speech By Mayor Tonight With 4 Aldermen

Mayor Percy Scourrah makes his second re-election campaign speech tonight at 8 in Oaklands Elementary School auditorium.

He will be accompanied on the platform by the four aldermen running for re-election, Geoffrey Edgewood, M. H. Mooney, D. J. Proudfoot and Mrs. Lily Wilson.

2 Acclamations For School Board Seats at Belmont

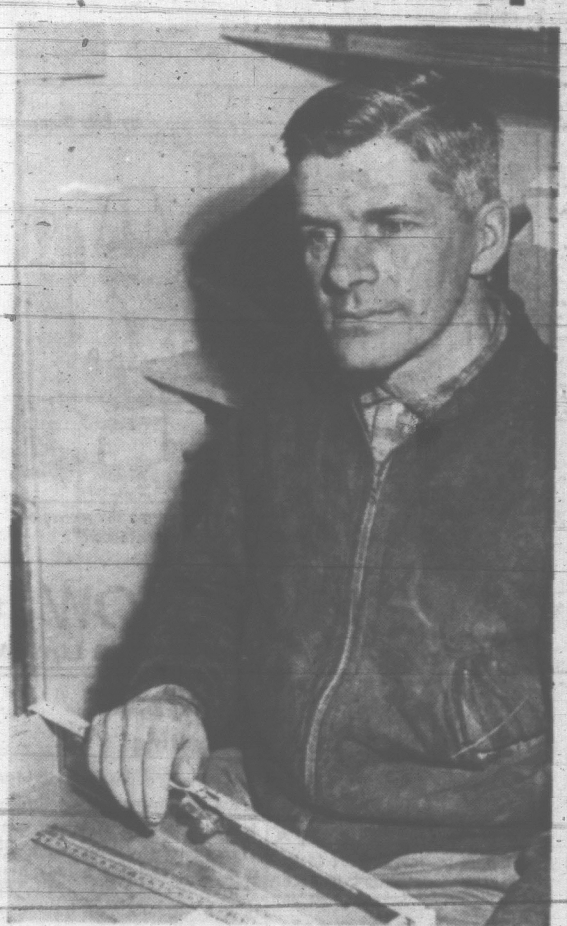

John S. Williams, Glen Lake, and Fred H. Boulter, Langford, were elected trustees of Sooke School District No. 62 by acclamation Monday for the Belmont area.

They were the only two nominees for the two vacant area seats.

There are two nominees for the vacant trustee seat in the district's Milne's Landing area, Douglas Morris of Sooke, and L. S. Adams of Sooke.

There were no nominations for the San Juan area of the school district. The government is expected to make an appointment.

Election will be Dec. 13, 1959, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

'Down the Sink' For $500,000

Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood today said proposed rehabilitation and extension of City Hall would "just be pouring $500,000 down the sink."

The proposal was advanced by city engineer James Garnett as one of the alternatives in a report he was asked to make on what should be done to the building.

SELL FIRST

He said it would be cheaper than building a new City Hall but Ald. Edgewood said he was opposed to even discussing a new building until the present one is sold.

Ald. Edgewood, supported by Ald. Elmer McEwen, said the present building should be "fixed up as inexpensively as possible without doing any major rehabilitation."

Mr. Garnett said rehabilitation of the present building would cost $100,000 and new additions "several times this."

"In many respects, the city hall falls to meet the minimum safety standards required in the No. 1 fire limits and for a publicly used building," his report said.

"This does not mean that there is any great likelihood of danger resulting from use of the building, but simply means that conditions such as these are recognized continent-wide as those, that have resulted in major conflagrations and therefore should not be permitted."

He said the alternative to a complete rehabilitation is "to carry out all the necessary repairs needed to provide reasonable shelter and close our eyes to the problem of public safety."

The committee decided to refer his report to a special committee set up under Ald. Arthur Dowell for a thorough study of the city hall situation.

In the meantime, public works recommended that council authorize a $3,850 interior painting program.

Chiropodist's Last Will Invalid But Earlier Testament Accepted

The will that a woman chiropodist signed a month before her death was declared invalid in Vancouver Monday by Mr. Justice H. A. Maclean.

He ruled valid another will made June 27, 1957, by Mrs. Mary Hannah Filby, who died two years ago leaving a net estate of $64,000.

Filby, who practiced under her maiden name of Coupe, included in both wills bequests of $2,000 each to a son, David Filby of Sidney, and to a half-sister, Mrs. Edith Jones of Victoria. Bequests of $1,000 each were made to two half-sisters, Mrs. Elsie Pierce of Nanaimo, and Lucy Malden, Victoria, and three Vancouver men.

eventually to house-retarded children and elderly indigents at a motel and rooming-house also owned by Mrs. Filby.

The disputed portion of the wills concerned the rooming-house and motel. A life interest in the rooming-house was left to John Mitchell Patrick, 18, son of Mrs. Filby.

Patrick, on condition that Mrs. Filby's half-brother, A. E. Hetherington, have a home there for life.

A life interest in the motel was left to Mrs. Grace White, the motel manager.

The invalidated will would have given young Patrick sole ownership in the rooming-house and directed the executor to pay Mrs. White and Hetherington an allowance to live at the motel.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A careful burglar took in silver from a cash drawer at Golden Galleon Cafe, 2239 Oak Bay, Monday night, without disturbing a sub post office and magazine section on the premises.

An Oak Bay police patrol discovered the break-in by way of a rear door at about 7.30 a.m. today.

Police suspect the burglar may have used a 1948 model Dodge painted blue.

Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, head of the Unitarian Service Committee, will address the Victoria Unitarian Fellowship, Wednesday, at 8 p.m., at 1075 Joan Crescent.

Jack G. Wells, 3830 Palo Alto, was fined $50 and his driver's licence was suspended in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to careless driving.

Police said Wells raced another car on Douglas Street at 3.20 a.m., going through three red lights without stopping.

After hearing Wells' previous driving record, Magistrate William Ostler suspended his licence for one month.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Would you please tell me how I may find out if my name is on the city of Victoria voters' list? S.F.

A. You can look when down town. The list is posted at the entrance to the City Hall.

Q. Will you kindly let me know if the fair weights and measures law is under jurisdiction of the federal or provincial governments? J.G.

A. Federal.

Anybody wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along in The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," and enclosed in an envelope.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and not of opinion, and should be concise and to the point. No will attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps, or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

James Duncan, 845 Balmor, was fined $35 in city police court Monday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $1.50 worth of meat and butter from the Hudson's Bay Co., Saturday. He was apprehended by store detective Harry Mills a half block from the store, court was told.

A box containing mechanics' tools valued at $100 were stolen from his car overnight Saturday, Robert Provencal, 914 Hillside, complained to city police Sunday. The car was parked outside Provencal's home.

A victim of television was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for a severe thumb cut and discharged at about 10.30 a.m. today.

Police took Eugene D. Harvey, 40, 1030 Colville, to hospital emergency after the television antenna mast he was dismantling telescoped on his hand at Hillside Auto Court.

Work Point soldier Joseph Thir, who was arrested after a fight at Luxton Hall, Saturday night, was fined $25 and $50 costs when he pleaded guilty in Colwood RCMP court Monday, to causing a disturbance.

Two Victoria area residents each were fined $250 and their driver's licences were suspended when they pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Monday to charges of impaired driving.

They were Gary Douglas Powell, 2942 Leigh, and William George Ernest Laing, 9459 Patricia Bay Highway.

Contract was let by the provincial highways department today for construction of 4.07 miles of Trans-Canada highway in the Burnaby Lake area at a cost of $1,325,625. The four-lane stretch between Second Narrows and Port Mann was let to Peter Kiewit Sons Co. Canada Ltd.

Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society will hold its annual meeting in city hall council chamber Thursday at 8 p.m.

Election of officers will take place.

Half the available tickets on a two-night Kinsmen Christmas bingoes in the Memorial Arena Dec. 14 and 15 have already been sold, it was announced today.

This leaves another 7,000 tickets still available. Deadline for picking up applications for Kinsmen to bring a "mystery guest" here each of the two nights is 5.30 p.m. Saturday. Forms are available at Eaton's box office. Prizes for the two nights will total approximately $20,000 and "give-aways" will include 600 turkeys.

The Alumni of St. Joseph's School of Nursing will hold their regular business meeting at the Nurses' Residence this evening. Meeting starts at 8.

Forty-eight dollars hidden in a box under a table was stolen by a prowler who crawled through a window to the apartment of Harry Davis, 845 Balmor, between 12.45 and 6.15 p.m., city police were told Monday evening.

GRAIN RATES

Railways
Ask More Revenue

(From Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA—Canada's major railroads will ask for increases of 100 and 125 per cent in the Crows Nest Pass grain rates before a royal commission on transportation Friday.

But both lines, the CPR and CNR, will propose plans that, although providing them with greater revenues, will not increase rates actually paid by western grain farmers.

The CNR, it was learned today, will seek a 125 per cent increase in the Crows Nest rates. It will ask that parliament make a grant covering the difference between the existing rates and the proposed rates.

The CNR will tell the McTague royal commission that such a grant should be based on an estimate to be made each year by the board of transport commissioners on the amount of additional income the railway would earn each year under a 125 per cent increase.

Canada's other major railroad, the CPR, will ask for a 100 per cent increase in Crows Nest rates, but, as a private company, it is seeking to avoid a government subsidy.

A straight subsidy could involve the company in a continual battle with the House of Commons.

The CPR instead will ask for taxation changes so that the additional revenue it would obtain if farmers paid the increase of 100 per cent would be deducted from the firm's taxable income.

CANADA'S STAKE IN JAPAN

Nation Realizes
Aims in Peace

This is the third in a series of articles by the editor of the Times after a visit to Japan at the invitation of that country's government.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

By a typical paradox of its tumultuous history Japan has suddenly realized in peace the great over-all plan vainly attempted in war.

When it devised the Co-Prosperity Sphere of East Asia and undertook to enforce it by conquest the result was ruin. But within 14 years of that catastrophe international trade has created an economic empire and new spheres of influence.

Japan's highest living standard is known in Asia, and the life of its neighbors now is providing a major market for Canada.

Airliner
Crashes
Peak

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI)—A Philadelphia-to-Cleveland Allegheny Airlines plane crashed into South Williamsport Mountain while making a landing approach today, killing all but one of the 25 persons aboard.

The sole survivor was thrown clear of the wreckage and into a tree. He was identified as Louis Matarazzo, of Springfield, Pa. He was in serious condition in Divine Providence Hospital here.

Two other persons were removed alive from the flaming wreckage but died later while being taken to hospital. The plane was still burning several hours after the crash.

SNOW AND FOG

A driving snow fell intermittently during the day but had stopped when the plane crashed away from the Williamsport-Montoursville airport to make a second landing approach. Airport officials said a heavy fog covered the area.

The plane, a twin-engine Martin 202, apparently circled to the south and crashed halfway up the 2,500-foot mountain. Normal procedure is to circle north away from the mountain which lies just across the Susquehanna River from the airport.

ROAD BLOCKED

Two of the survivors were lowered down a 500-foot embankment to a railroad line running along the base of the mountain. A Pennsylvania Railroad yard engine with a baggage car attached then took them to a railroad crossing where they were transferred to ambulances.

A helicopter, from the Olmsted air force base at Middletown, Pa., was the only vehicle able to reach the scene until several hours after the crash.

Tories Want
Still Bigger
House Margin

OTTAWA (UPI)—The Progressive Conservative party today called for an increase in its massive Commons majority—the biggest in Canada's parliamentary history.

National director Allister Gressart sounded the slogan as the party's national association began a two-day meeting here.

In a convention speech he said the party should work for more than the 208 Commons seats—of a total 265—that it won in last year's election.

"I am not willing to admit we can't do better the next time," he said.

The meeting was given evidence of new organizational muscle for the party in Quebec province as the executive of a newly-formed Quebec association made its debut on the national scene.

This is a far cry from the days, only six years ago, when the United States paid for half of Japan's imports, or $500 millions annually, by the expenditure of dollars on American military forces in Japan and other forms of aid, now no longer needed.

By a continuing favorable trade balance Japan has piled up hard currency reserves of $12 billions this year and

KOREA TOTS NEED HELP

War Is Over,
Scars Remain

Times readers starting Thursday will have the opportunity to throw their weight behind construction of a rehabilitation centre for war-injured children in Seoul, Korea.

It will be the Times' seventh annual appeal on behalf of the Unitarian Service Committee which has accomplished such tremendous work in underprivileged areas of the world.

The appeal starts Thursday when Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, head of the USC drive, speaks in Oak Bay Junior High School on the need for aid to children in Asiatic countries.

Doors will open at 7:15 and the talk, entitled "The Magic Key," will start at 8 p.m. A film, "Step By Step," taken by Dr. Hitschmanova in Korea and India, will show conditions in these places "as the relief worker sees them, not glamorized."

No admission will be charged, but a silver collection will be taken, instituting the campaign which in past years has raised nearly $60,000 from generous Victorians who have contributed to the USC fund through the Times.

Cost of the Sam Yook rehabilitation centre, as it is called, will be $15,000, which includes building

HOW HUNGARY EXPLODED

'Stalin Fever'
Caused Revolt

VIENNA (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today blamed the 1956 Hungarian revolution on his own abrupt denunciation of Stalinism and the Stalinist "cult of personality" at the 20th Soviet Communist Party congress in Moscow earlier that year.

"Following the 20th congress of the Communist party of the Soviet Union," Khrushchev said, "the Hungarian party congress in Budapest today certain difficulties—something of a fever—were experienced by some parties, including our party."

He said the Soviet Communists were so strong they weathered the differences the denunciation brought although there was criticism that the changes of the break with Joseph Stalin caused complications in other Communist countries.

But Khrushchev said "it had to be done... it was necessary to get cleansed and to throw off all the accumulated extraneous matter."

In Hungary, he said, the problem of class struggle raised by the break with the past took the form of an armed clash. But now, he said, the Socialist countries are so strong they are "invincible."

Khrushchev gave his full backing to the Communist puppet regime in Hungary and in a review of world affairs renewed his protests against continued allied occupation of West Germany.

Liberals, CCF
Back Proposals
Of Federal Probe

Provincial government action to reduce food costs in line with proposals released Monday by a federal royal commission on price spreads, was urged today by Liberal and CCF spokesmen.

Two Social Credit cabinet ministers had other views.

Trade Minister Robert Bonner said B.C. should wait until the report has had full study before taking any steps.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, who formerly held the agriculture portfolio, felt advertising and packaging costs are here to stay.

He did not see how the provincial government could aid the consumer, but the farm producer could help himself by doing more of his own marketing through producer organizations.

REACTIONS VARY

The varied reactions followed a federal probe into the price spread between what the producer gets for his food item, and what the consumer pays.

The two-year study condemned contests, give-aways and gimmicks and all other modern "merchandising" high spending on promotion.

Russia Ahead
On Missiles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy conceded today that Russia may have superior numbers of intercontinental missiles in the early 1960s. He said he has ordered preparations for an American airborne bomber alert to make up for the "gap."

The retiring secretary (see page 3) told a "swansong" news conference that the military budget going to Congress in January includes money for the Strategic Air Command to practice a continuous airborne alert and to stockpile engines and other critical spare parts.

Asked if a "missile gap" is a foregone conclusion, the secretary said "I don't say there will be. But there can be."

"If Russia builds what it could and we build what we intend, they will have more missile capability for the period of 1961, 1962 and maybe 1963 then we will have," McElroy said.

MANITOBA PROBE

Private School
Grants Proposed

WINNIPEG (CP)—Government financial help for private and parochial schools in Manitoba was recommended today in the report of a Royal Commission on Education.

The commission said in a unanimous recommendation that help could be given to such schools, where they provide a satisfactory standard of education, without injury to "the public school system, to unity or to religious toleration."

"Indeed, it may benefit and give more worth to all these. In any case, practical application of the principles of democracy by which we try to live requires that whenever possible the majority be tolerant enough to provide for significant minorities the kind of education they want for their children."

The commission said there should be "no more regulation of these schools than is necessary to ensure that the education afforded in them is up to the general standard of the public schools."

1896 Compromise Still in Effect

Revival of the question of aid to parochial schools in Manitoba recalled a stormy period in the past of the province. It had separate Protestant and Roman Catholic school systems before 1890, with each group paying the costs of its own schools.

The provincial government wound out the distinction in 1890 and set up a system of public schools in which there was no religious difference. After a court and inter-government battle, in which the federal Conservative government backed the minority, the school question was fought in the 1896 general election and the Conservatives were defeated.

The Laurier government that followed compromised. Some religious teaching was allowed in schools. Under the compromise, still in existence, religious groups run their own schools at their own cost but

'PASS WORD AROUND RESERVE' SAYS JUDGE

DUNCAN—"I'm rather perturbed so many Indians have been appearing in court on charges of intoxication," Magistrate A. C. Sutton told a group of five men and one woman fined $10 or 10 days and $5.50 court costs each here Monday.

"You can pass the word around to your friends on the reservation that I intend to take some action to end it. I can do that by interdiction," Magistrate Sutton said.

Sewage Lagoon Talks Okayed

DUNCAN—City council has been given the green light to start negotiating for a 20-acre sewage lagoon on Cowichan Indian reserve land.

The go-ahead came Monday from Indian Agency superintendent F. A. Clark. Council and members of Cowichan Indian reserve council made a trip last June to inspect a seven-acre sewage lagoon "about 750 people in Port Alberni."

Chief Elwood Modeste and members of the Indian council were impressed. If there were evergreens around the place it would have looked like a park. Ald. R. K. Cairns said at that time.

FAIR RENTAL

Mayor J. T. Dobson said Monday the city fathers had "tried to work with the Indians as individuals and had approached Eddy Elliot of the Cowichan band and asked him what a fair rental would be for a monthly lease rent."

Mayor Dobson said council wanted to obtain 20 acres of Indian land. About one-half of the required land would be leased from Mr. Elliot and the rest from a second Indian.

"We definitely hope to go ahead," Mayor Dobson said. He pointed out that land ownership boundaries on the reserve are "quite a problem," and the plan would require a legal survey to distribute the rent equally.

"We want to go along with town planning as much as we can," Mr. Clark said.

Canadian Horse Shows Association has named five Vancouver Island horses among the 1959 champions in B.C.

Based on their performance during the past riding season.

Winter Jobs Start

NANAIMO—The city's winter work program starts today and during December $23,000 in improvements will be made under the federal-provincial winter emergency employment program.

The work involves improvement to Westwood Lake, Bowen and Gyro parks, and a start on construction of access roads to the new regional hospital.

David Batty, Duncan has received an award as top B.C. rider in the western stock saddle seat classification.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

Toronto, Ont. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unpleasant symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished quickly and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood-plasma a medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan Tablets.

Dristan Tablets cost only $1.25 for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

KE'S APPLAUSE 'RIGGED' ON FILM OF EUROPE VISIT

NEW YORK (AP)—Two American networks say their technicians in New York dubbed in some of the crowd noises heard in television coverage of President Eisenhower's recent trip to Europe.

The American Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System acknowledged Monday night that in a few instances recorded crowd noises were used where the real sounds were either lacking or failed to fit in with other film.

The National Broadcasting Company said it used only the sound which actually accompanied the president during his travels.

An ABC spokesman explained: "When Eisenhower was travelling into Bonn from the airport by car, we had only a man with a hand-held camera riding in a truck to cover him; where before we had natural sounds of the crowd. You obviously can't suddenly go into dead silence... so perhaps a little music."

"We never would insert applause if people were sitting on their hands... we used only appropriate sound."

Sig Mickelson, president of the CBS news division, issued a memorandum on pre-recorded sound effects in news programs, in which he said:

"In general, the use of pre-recorded sound effects should be avoided. Where, however, it is impractical to record the natural sound, and such sound is purely incidental, having no bearing on the editorial content of a program, pre-recorded sound effects may be used."

Meanwhile, CBS president Frank Stanton issued a warning to "employees that anyone guilty of bribery or 'payola' would be fired. Payola is the practice whereby record companies pay disc jockeys to plug records."

NBC announced the appointment of James A. Stabile, a lawyer, as vice-president in charge of standards and practices.
